GERMANY DECLARES WAR ON PORTUGAL

BLOODY BATTLE ON MEXICAN BORDER

El Paso, Tex., March 9.—More than 400 Mexican soldiers believed to have been led by Francisco Villa, attacked the town of Columbus, N. M., seventy miles west of El Paso, early today, killed five American soldiers and at least eight civilians, men and women, set fire to the town and fought a pitched battle with United States troops on American soil.

The Mexicans were driven from the town after a struggle lasting more than an hour and the American soldiers pursuing them are said to have crossed into Mexico.

More than fifty Mexicans were killed, according to reports received here just before noon.

The following American soldiers were killed:

PRIVATE FRANK KENDALL, Troop K, Thirteenth Cavalry.
SERGEANT M. A. DOBBS.
CORPORAL P. SIMON.
CORPORAL HARRY WISWALL, Troop G.
SERGEANT JOHN VIEVERGELT.

The following civilians are known to have been killed.

C. C. MILLER, shot down near his drug store in the heart of city.
MRS. M. JAMES, wife of a railway mechanic.
J. DEAN, grocer, shot and killed while trying to protect store from looters.
W. T. RICHIE, shot and body burned in his hotel.

Colonel Slocum, commander of the American troops at Columbus, had a narrow escape from death. A Mexican shot at him point-blank, but the bullet hit the Colonel's revolver and was deflected. The Mexican fell dead a second later, shot through the head by a trooper who had been pursuing him.

Plot to Force Intervention.

The invasion of the United States at Columbus is believed to have been a stroke by Villa to force intervention in Mexico. He has openly vowed to accomplish this.

On their way to Columbus, the Villista forces hanged and burned the bodies of three Americans, whom they had found in Northern Mexico.

The victims were Arthur McKinney, James O'Neil and William Corbett.

Word was also received at Columbus that Villa troops had shot J. J. Moorevachant, a rancher, and an unidentified American, and that their bodies were also burned.

Later advices from Columbus say that Pablo Lopez, the Villa leader held responsible for the recent massacre of Americans at Santa Ysabel took part in the battle there.

A portmanteau containing personal papers belonging to Villa was found just west of the camp of the Thirteenth U. S. Cavalry today, shortly after the attack of Mexican bandits on the camp.

The attacking Mexicans numbered about 400 men. Many of them were killed. In addition to the American civilians and soldiers killed, four soldiers and one civilian were also wounded.

Rumors current along the frontier for several days have said that Francisco Villa would attempt to cross the border into the United States near Columbus, but advices received late last night indicated that the rebel leader was at Paolomas, Chihuahua.

It was later learned that Villa sent a telegram to Hachita, N. M., last night stating that he was at the Nogales Ranch in Chihuahua. This is forty-five miles from Columbus. At the time the message was being transmitted Villa was on his way from the Boaques Grandes Ranch, about twenty-five miles below Columbus, to the American city.

They are the same Villa forces reported yesterday at Nogales, and Villa is believed to be in personal command of them.

The attack on Columbus had apparently been carefully planned. The Mexicans who invaded American territory are reported to have been under the personal leadership of General Francisco Villa, but it is not yet known whether he crossed the border. The alarm was given in Columbus shortly after 4:30 a. m., when it was discovered that the Mexicans had entered the town and were setting fire to the buildings there.

The first shots were fired near the

Austrians Seek Sacred Crown in Lombardy Sortie

Milan, March 9.

THE treasure at Monza, about nine miles north of here, which the Austrians are credited with desiring to seize is the iron crown of Lombardy. It is really a golden crown, but round the inside runs a strip of iron, reputed to be a nail of the true cross, brought back by the Empress Helen from Palestine.

The rulers of Lombardy are said to have been crowned with this piece ever since the Seventh Century.

T. R. DECLARES HE IS NOT A CANDIDATE

By International News Service.

New York, March 9.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will not be a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination in any State primaries. In an interview secured by the representative of the Evening Mail at Port of Spain, Trinidad, the ex-President declared he did not wish the nomination.

In a long statement which Colonel Roosevelt wrote and signed he sets forth his position with reference to the presidential nomination as follows:

I am deeply sensible of the honor conferred on me and of the good will shown me by the gentlemen who have announced themselves as delegates to be elected in my interests in the Massachusetts presidential primary. Nevertheless I must request, and I now do request and insist that my name

LESS ALE IS TO BE BREWED IN ENGLAND

By International News Service.

London, March 9.—Less ale is to be brewed in England hereafter. Mr. Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons that the brewers had agreed to a reduction of 22 1-2 per cent. in the imports of brewing materials.

CHINESE REBELS ATTACK GUNBOAT

Hong Kong, March 9.—A steamship manned by eighty Chinese rebels has attacked a government gunboat near Canton with bombs and rifles. One sailor was killed in the fight. The raiders then landed and attacked a fort, but were dispersed by the fire of naval and military guns.

GERMANY MAY OUST MINISTER

London, March 9.—An Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch from Zurich says: "It is reported in Frankfurt that, unless the German ships seized in Portugal are released prior to Saturday, the Portuguese Minister to Germany will be handed his passports."

AMERICAN 'MAD-CAPS' A DANGER

Senator Gore at Boston Hotel Deplores Spirit of Bravado Shown in Crisis on Armed Ships

"I have always taken the stand since this submarine warfare began, and I hold to it now, that no madcap American citizen looking for a 'thrill' has a right, by traveling across the Atlantic to or from Europe on armed merchant ships, to involve this nation in a whirlpool of blood," said Senator Gore of Oklahoma today to a reporter for the Boston AMERICAN, in his room at the Copley-Plaza.

"Of course," continued the Senator, "such people have the legal, technical right to travel on any ships they choose; the President holds to this position, and I, in common with all good Americans, must stand by the President."

"But we have a right, too, to ask why should this man Bellus or Brooklyn and his wife, who took passage a week ago on the Canopic, select this time to travel on an armed death-trap?"

"There are one hundred million honest, peace-loving Americans in this country with a right to say that they should be protected against the act of a man like that who, by his desire for a 'thrill' would plunge them into war."

SUIT RESULTS FROM ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Jennie M. Claflin of Worcester, administratrix of the estate of Calvin W. Claflin of Framingham, today brought suit in the East Cambridge court for $10,000 against the A. M. Eaton Paper Company of Waltham.

It is claimed that Claflin, who was employed in a Framingham livery stable where the paper company stabled was killed by drinking horse liniment, brought to the stable by an employe of the company. The bottle bore no label, according to the papers filed in the suit, and Claflin mistook it for cough medicine.

Latest War Bulletins

Petrograd, March 9.—Russian troops are continuing their progress along the north coast of the Black Sea toward Trebizond. Following their occupation of Rizeh, they are nearing Solakly, only twenty-eight miles from Trebizond.

Naval and land forces will co-operate in the attack on Trebizond, which after its capture will be used as a base of Russian operations in Northern Asia Minor. A large fleet of transports has been gathered at Odessa to carry additional forces to Trebizond.

London, March 9.—The fishing boat Young Harry has been sunk. The crew was saved.

GERMAN FLEET RETURNS TO NAVAL BASE

By International News Service.

Rotterdam, March 9.—A German fleet of battleships and cruisers was in the North Sea on Monday, according to reliable reports received here, but has returned to port without encountering British warships.

For five hours, from 7 a. m. to noon, the fleet was apparently engaged in manoeuvres on a great scale. It steamed in a southwesterly direction at 7 a. m., but turned back toward the northeast between 10 and 11 o'clock.

It was in three squadrons, all of different formation. Each battleship and cruiser was accompanied by a torpedo boat and a Zeppelin sailing high above the fleet.

GLOVER AGREES TO FIGHT JOE EAGAN

Mike Glover and Joe Eagan, both of South Boston, have been matched at the Hippodrome on March 21.

This bout has been hanging fire for over a month, and it was only today that the representatives of the two battlers got together and agreed upon terms.

Shortly after he was given the decision over "Wild Bill" Fleming at the Business Men's A. A., Eagan, through his manager, Eddie Mack, hurled a broadside at Glover.

Neither Glover nor his manager, George Freeman, paid much attention to Eagan's den at first, but when he repeated it again and again they finally decided that Joe meant business.

Both Glover and Eagan are clever scientists, and though not particularly hard hitters, should put up a scrap of rapid fire order. Besides they are great rivals, and, as they both hail from the same district it is needless to state that there will be something doing on the evening of March 21.

DEMANDS REFUSED; STRIKE THREATENED

Worcester, March 9.—Demands for higher wages, shorter hours and better working conditions presented by 900 corset workers were turned down today by the Worcester Employers' Association and Morris Pearlroth of New York, organizer, said a strike vote would be taken tonight.

GERMANS ENTER VAUX IN DRIVE ON VERDUN

By International News Service.

London, March 9.—The German, renewing their attack on the defenses of Verdun with unabated fury, entered the village of Vaux, northeast of Verdun. A terrific hand-to-hand battle ensued, both sides claiming the advantage.

Berlin today officially announces the capture of Vaux. Paris officially declares that, although the Germans entered Vaux, they were driven back at the point of the bayonet.

The German War Office admits a check in Champagne, where the French captured a trench.

The German and French reports are also contradictory regarding the fighting in Corbeaux forest.

Fort Vaux, one of the girdle of defensive works defending Verdun, lies less than half a mile south of the village. Vaux is a mile southeast of Douaumont, and its capture represents a gain of about a quarter of a mile for the Germans.

Following is the text of the official German report:

"West front—Artillery activity on both sides has increased to the greatest violence.

"The French recaptured the western part of the trench at Maisons de Champagne, where we reported hand grenade fighting yesterday.

"West of the Meuse we have cleared the Corbeaux forest of all the French that remained there.

"East of the Meuse, in order to short-

RUPTURE CAUSED BY SHIP SEIZURES

Berlin, March 9.—By wireless—Germany today declared war against Portugal. Formal notice to this effect was handed to the Portuguese government at Lisbon by the German minister and by the German Foreign Minister in Berlin to the Portuguese minister accredited to the German Court.

Germany took this action because of the recent seizures of German ships in Portuguese ports, which the German government declares "the gravest breach of neutrality and of special treaties."

"Germany is therefore forced to give up its former forbearing attitude, which had been maintained on account of Portugal's awkward situation," says the official statement.

Names Neutral Breaches.

The declaration of war enumerates a long series of alleged breaches of neutrality by the Portuguese government, such as granting free passage to British ships through Mozambique, the use of Portuguese ports by English ships for a longer length of time than that permitted to neutrals, free of Madeira as a base for the British and attacks made by Portuguese troops on German forces at the frontier of German South Africa (German West Africa and Angola.

It also cites the insult offered at the German nation by members of the Portuguese cabinet without their receiving any reprimand. It states emphatically that the seizure of German ships in neutral Portuguese ports is contrary to all law and to treaties that have been concluded between Germany and Portugal.

Referring further to the seizure of German ships, the official document drawn up by the German War Office says:

Vassal of Britain.

"According to the treaty between both nations, the seizures should have been preceded by an agreement as to the price due owners of the vessels, and seizures would only be permitted in case of public necessity for Portugal. The tonnage of the ships is larger than what is actually needed to remedy the scarcity of tonnage at Portugal's disposal.

"The Portuguese government did not even try to communicate with the German owners or with the German government.

"The Portuguese government by these actions has forcibly given evidence that Portugal considers herself England's vassal, to whom England's interests and wishes are paramount in comparison with other considerations. The Portuguese government seized the ships in a fashion which must be considered an international provocation of Germany. The German flag was hauled down on board the ships, the Portuguese flag with its war emblem was hoisted, and the Portuguese admiral ship fired a salute.

"The German minister to Portugal protested against the illegal seizure. Nevertheless the Portuguese government declared there had been no German protest. On March 4 the Portuguese minister to Berlin handed to the Foreign Office a note from his government denying the justice of the German claims.

"A copy of this Portuguese note was sent to the German minister at Lisbon, together with instructions to transmit the declaration to the Portuguese government and the German government considers itself from now on at war with Portugal."

Amputates Own Finger; Rows to Doctor Ashore

Captain Elliot C. Hadley, keeper of the Baker's Island Light, is back on duty today after rowing ashore to get a doctor see what a good surgeon he would have made.

Captain Hadley's finger was caught in the fog horn machinery and a badly jammed it was hopeless to save it. So the captain amputated his own finger at the joint, and after giving it a day or so to heal, came ashore and let a physician see that it was in proper shape.

He returned to his duty after consulting the doctor.

FIERCE CLOSE RANGE FIGHTING AT VERDUN

en the connections between the positions south of Douaumont and our lines in the Woevre district, the village of Vaux, the armored fort of Vaux and numerous adjoining fortified positions of the enemy were captured in a night attack delivered by Posen reserve regiments under General Haas von Guretzky-Cornitz.

"In aerial engagements in the neighborhood of Verdun six were the victors. Three enemy aeroplanes were shot down, all our machines returning safely to their base. However, several of our pilots were wounded.

"Enemy troops in villages east and south of Verdun were heavily bombarded from the air.

"Two civilians were killed and several private houses were damaged in the attack upon Metz by a French aeroplane squadron. The aeroplane carrying the commander of the squadron, was shot down. The commander was made a prisoner, but the observer was killed.

"East front—Attempts of the Russians to advance were repulsed at every point. Our airships bombarded the railway at Minsk and also the troops concentrated at Mir on the 4th.

"Balkan front—There is nothing to report."

FRENCH REPORT.

The text of the French communique follows:

"In the Argonne our artillery has continued its bombardment of the enemy's lines of communication particularly in the Eastern Argonne and in the region of Montfaucon and Varennes.

"West of the Meuse, the enemy attempted several attacks in the course of the night, seeking to overcome his reverses of yesterday. Two attacks were launched following violent artillery preparations against the village of Bethincourt, but were stopped by our curtains of fire, which prevented the enemy from debouching.

"In the Corbeaux forest renewed efforts by the enemy failed to dislodge us from the large space of reconquered ground which we had conquered.

"East of the Meuse, the battle has continued with tenacity. Yesterday evening and in the course of the night the Germans directed several attacks with powerful forces against our positions in the region between Douaumont and the village of Vaux. Despite the violence of the artillery fire and the violence of the assaults, the enemy was unable to break our lines.

"Some German infantry forces which had penetrated momentarily the village of Vaux were immediately driven out by a counter attack with the bayonet.

"In the Woevre region both sides carried on an intermittent cannonade without any infantry action. A surprise attack west of LePretre forest resulted in our taking twenty prisoners."

General Joffre, the French Commander-in-Chief, who is making his headquarters in the shell-wrecked city of Verdun, has sent word to the French Ministry of War that the situation on the Verdun front is highly favorable for the French. "The Germans have expended an inestimable amount of ammunition and have thrown away tens of thousands of lives and are still far from the chief defences of the fortress, General Joffre says.

The battle began eighteen days ago and in all that time the German Crown Prince has been keeping up a terrific offensive on some portion of the Verdun line, part of the time under the eyes of "the uppermost war lord," but only six miles of territory have been gained north of Verdun, while the gains northwest and east have been even smaller.

WAR SUMMARY

New gains by the Germans west of the Meuse River were reported today, and the importance of these gains appears from the fact that every mile's advance puts the French within the fortress in so much the more danger of being cut off.

The official bulletins today were in conflict. The Germans claimed to have captured Fort Vaux, the village of the same name, and the Corbeaux Wood. The French, on the other hand, claim German attacks were repulsed at the latter point, and that Germans who captured the village of Vaux were driven out again.

These conflicts may be explained by the fact that the Berlin official bulletin is issued at a later hour. In any direct conflict of testimony, however, the German bulletins are usually more reliable, as the French communiques are censored by the British. The French, for instance, have never officially admitted the capture of Fort Douaumont by the Germans in any dispatch that has reached the United States.

It is improbable that the French will allow any force to be shut up within the fortress by the Germans. The old adage, "A fortress besieged is a fortress taken," is a part of the gospel of this war. The French did allow Maubeuge to be besieged, early in the war, and lost 40,000 prisoners thereby. In the case of Verdun, however, it is probable they would avoid this mistake and, while fighting to the last gasp, would refuse to lose any large number of prisoners through siege operations.

Therefore, any advance that puts the Germans in a position to cut off his retreat would probably lead the French commander to consider abandoning the position.

Austria reports minor successes against the Russians in trench warfare near Tarnopol.

The Russians claim successes against the Germans north of this point. The Russians also tell of easy victories over demoralized Turkish troops along the coast near Trebizond.

ROOSEVELT NOT A CANDIDATE, HE DECLARES

be not brought into the Massachusetts primaries, and I emphatically decline to be a candidate in the primaries of that or any other State. Months ago I formally notified the authorities of Nebraska, Montana and Michigan to this effect.

I do not wish the nomination. I am not in the least interested to the political fortunes either of myself or any other man.

Colonel Roosevelt says he is interested in awaking his countrymen to the need of facing unpleasant facts, and then continues:

I will not enter into any fight for the nomination, and I will not permit any factional fight to be made in my behalf. Indeed, I will go further and say that it would be a mistake to nominate me unless the country has in its mood something of the heroic—unless it feels not only devotion to ideals, but the purpose measurably to realize those ideals in action.

ASSAILS WILSON'S RULE.

After citing the fact that the country is confronting tremendous national and international problems, as in the days of Washington and Lincoln, he assails the present administration at Washington, saying:

Nothing is to be hoped from the present administration, and the struggles between the President and his party leaders in Congress are today merely struggles as to whether the nation shall see its governmental representatives adopt an attitude of a little more or a little less hypocrisy and follow a policy of slightly greater or slightly less baseness. All that they offer us is a choice between degrees of hypocrisy and degrees of infamy.

But disgust with the unmanly failure of the present administration, I believe, does not, and I know ought not, to mean that the American people vote in a spirit of mere protest. They ought not to and I believe they will not be content merely to change the present administration for one equally timid, equally vacillating, equally lacking in vision, in moral integrity and in high resolve. They should desire, and I believe they do desire, public servants and public policies signifying more than aloof cleverness in escaping action behind clouds of fine words, in refusal to face real internal needs, and in complete absorption of every faculty in devising constantly shifting hand-to-mouth and day-to-day measures for escape from our international duty by the abandonment of our national honor—measures due to sheer dread of various foreign powers, tempered by a sometimes harmonizing and sometimes conflicting dread of various classes of voters, especially hyphenated voters at home.

RESOLUTE MAN NEEDED.

The rest of the statement is devoted to a description of the men that should be delegates to the Chicago convention. Colonel Roosevelt says:

They should be the very best men that can be found in our country, whose one great mission should be desire in unequivocal terms for a program of clean-cut, straightest national Americanism, in deeds not less than in words and in internal and international matters alike, and to choose as their candidate a man who will not merely stand for such a program before election, but will resolutely and in good faith put it through if elected. * * *

They should approach their task, he concludes, "unhampered by any pledge except to bring to its accomplishment every ounce of courage, intelligence and integrity they possess."

Offers Alibi Against Montreal Robbery Charge

An effort was made today before United States Commissioner Hayes by Montreal police to extradite Louis R. Merrian, a former Boston man, who is held as a fugitive from justice, charged with the larceny of jewelry valued at $1,350 from a Montreal store. He is fighting extradition and offered an alibi through Dr. Hill, a physician with an office at No. 209 Columbus avenue, who declared he had treated Merrian on the evening of December 23, within twelve hours of th Montreal robbery.

A sister of Merriam, Mrs. Claire Stimpson, wife of a New York curb broker, testified that her brother was a physical wreck due to the use of drugs and Dr. Hill said his treatment was for nervous breakdown.

REVERSE U. S. STAND ON GIVING WARNING

By WILLIS J. ABBOT.

Washington, March 9.—Having compelled Congress to abandon its desire to warn Americans against traveling on armed belligerent merchantmen, the administration proposes to accomplish the result Congress desired in a different way.

By so doing Mr. Wilson will be able to boast, as his followers are now boasting, that he whipped Congress to his feet, and at the same time do in effect what Congress desired to do, and which the country unquestionably wishes done.

This is a democratic nation, but for some reason the people always applaud a President who can subdue Congress to his will. To attain this applause President Wilson has kept Congress in a turmoil, and the business community in a state of uncertainty over the issue of peace or war for nearly two weeks.

DISSATISFACTION GROWS.

The feeling of dissatisfaction in Congress with the action which had been forced upon it by Presidential coercion was enhanced by publication of the German memorandum transmitted by Ambassador von Bernstorff, to Mr. Lansing. Congressional opinion was very general that, aside from the detailed charges made by the memorandum of British violations of international law, the allegations that Great Britain was systematically making her merchantmen into converted or auxiliary cruisers were too serious to be set aside lightly.

Even men of the type of Senator Lodge and Representative Gardner balk at the proposition that an American embarking on a swift ship carrying 4-inch guns, served by the crew of armed Royal Naval Reservists, commanded by a naval officer in the regular service, are on a peaceful merchantman and entitled to claim the protection of their own country against hostile attack.

The latest German memorandum made this so plain to the administration that some way was hastily sought to undo the work which Congress was forced to perform Tuesday. Some way must be found to keep Americans off vessels of this character. Moreover, the situation in the Senate with a new debate on the international situation threatened for today compelled some action. So, while the President formally denied a rumor that he would issue a warning of the sort that Congress refused to express, the State Department went on to accomplish the same end by announcing its new policy.

WILSON IS ROUSED.

How greatly that keynote speech of Senator Lodge has affected the Wilson policies and the Wilson utterances is a matter much commented upon here. If it was intended to sting the President into expressions that had heretofore been foreign to his speech it was eminently successful.

It converted him from a moderate navy man and a subscriber of Josephus Daniels into the proponent of the greatest navy in the world. It made him vie with Representative Gardner himself in solemn warnings of imminent peril from foreign foes and in earnest appeals for a greater measure of preparedness.

It led him to strive to obscure the inglorious record of the administration in Mexico with a spectacular program of vigor on the high seas.

British Dispute U-Boat Assertion.

Washington, March 9.—Emphatic denial was made by the British embassy this afternoon of the chief portions of the German memorandum as made public by Count von Bernstorff yesterday.

It declares that the British government never having ratified the Declaration of London is not bound in any way by its provisions.

Holding up by British warships of the Wilhelmina, en route to Hamburg, is justified by the claim that this took place only after German warships had sunk the Frye and Marin, which were conveying grain to Ireland from the United States.

German mine-sowing also is declared illegal and the German action in sinking the Admiral Ganteaume and the Asiatics, as well as the torpedoing of other British merchant vessels in 1914-15, showed, the statement says, that Germany is not stating the facts regarding the reasons for her reprisals.

Secretary of State Lansing asked British Ambassador Spring-Rice today if he had received copies of the British admiralty's orders to merchantmen which were recently given out in London. The ambassador told him that he did not have them. It is understood that Secretary Lansing will have official copies of the order sent from London before he reaches any decision in the submarine controversy.

Withdraws His Warning Resolve

Washington, March 9.—Senator Mc-Cumber brought his resolution warning Americans off armed ships before the Senate today and then withdrew it because, he said, there were strong indications of a settlement of the U-boat controversy without congressional action.

Senator McCumber read a brief statement, saying that in view of what purported to be an authorized statement from Secretary of State Lansing that Americans were to be indirectly but effectively warned off armed ships, he considered the purposes of his and the Gore resolution accomplished.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or, rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that Indigestion is caused by Hyperacidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten sours in the stomach, much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing, and, furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys, and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advertisement.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the nussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF NURSE

New York, March 9—In the death of a trained nurse, Nellie E. Keena, at the home of Dr. Benjamin B. Searing of No. 56 West Eleventh street, the police are confronted with a mystery which has elements that might have been taken from a story by Gorky.

Dr. Searing was considered a few years ago a brilliant young physician. He was a graduate of Cornell and had many friends. Latterly his practice had been falling away and he had separated from his wife and child. Today he lies in Bellevue Hospital in a precarious condition from the effects of prolonged dissipation.

He is under police guard pending an inquiry into the death of Miss Keena, whose nose was broken, her eyes blackened and her body covered with bruises. It is believed she had been dead twenty-four hours when the police entered the doctor's apartment yesterday afternoon.

Miss Keena, who was a graduate of the Bellevue Training School for Nurses, was known in the house as Dr. Searing's wife. She came to New York City from Watkins, N. Y., fifteen years ago, and first made the acquaintance of Dr. Searing about three years ago. Since then they had been inseparable.

Last year they both made an effort, it is said, to wean themselves from excessive drinking. She went to the Polyclinic Hospital, and he became an inmate of the sanitarium of Dr. Charles B. Towns, No. 293 Central Park West.

When the police were called to the apartment house at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the woman had been dead many hours, Coroner Hellenstein said. She was last seen alive Monday night. She and Dr. Searing had stayed in the apartment two weeks without once leaving it, drinking heavily. For a greater part of the time they were insensible from the effects of drink.

According to Miss Keena's brother, John J. Keena, a real estate man, of No. 242 West One Hundred and Ninth street, he and his sister quarreled because of her relations with Dr. Searing. The brother said last night he wanted her against Dr. Searing.

"I threatened to bear Searing to a pulp," Keena said. "My sister begged me not to. I did not go near Searing, but I knew that he was in fear of me."

Dr. Searing had taken a five-room apartment on the first floor of the Wellford apartments, at No. 56 West Eleventh street, in October, but he did not occupy it until January 1.

Miss Kenna came to live in the apartment February 22.

They became so disorderly that other tenants complained of them. For the last two weeks they remained in their apartment. Monday night at 10 o'clock Miss Keena called John Riordan, a hall boy, and sent him out for a quart of whiskey and a quart of champagne.

"She sent me for that every night," Riordan told the police last night. "Her face was black and blue from bruises and her eyes were blackened.

"About an hour later I heard her screaming, as if she were being struck.

It was not until 1:30 in the afternoon that mysterious message came to Police Headquarters, saying that "a woman has been beaten to death at No. 56 West Eleventh street." The police do not know who sent the message, but think some tenant in the Wellford Apartments may have sent it.

A. L. BROWN DIES IN CITY HOSPITAL

Alexander L. Brown, assistant registrar in the office of the Election Commissioners, died today at City Hospital of pneumonia. He was seventy-four years old and one of the oldest men in point of service employed by the City. He started his public service as a clerk in the treasurer's office at Charlestown, when Charlestown was a city. He was a direct descendant of Paul Revere.

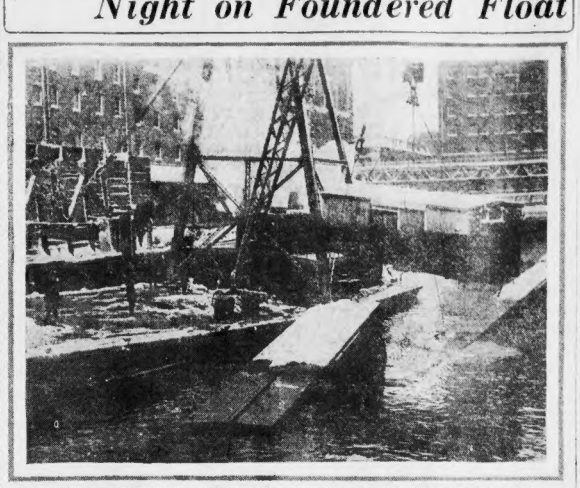
Freight Cars 'Rescued' After Night on Foundered Float



Picture taken by Boston American photographer shows lighter at work raising loaded freight cars that sank when car float sprang a leak in Atlantic avenue dock and foundered. The cars were loaded with valuable freight, mostly perishable, and the loss may be heavy.

CHILDREN AND WOMEN SAVED AT FIRE

Two four-year-old children were dropped a distance of twenty feet into a snow drift, their women lowered to safety by a rope improvised from a bed sheet and two men saved themselves from injury by their timely jump from a blazing porch roof during a fire that destroyed a two-family house on Renwick road, Melrose Highlands, early today.

The men were A. J. Campbell and A. W. Rowe, the women their wives and the children their two daughters.

The fire started from an overheated furnace and before discovered by a neighbor it had spread throughout the entire first floor.

With their escape this cut off from below, the two imperilled families were forced to seek safety by way of the porch roof.

DROPPED INTO SNOW.

With the two upper flats rapidly filling with suffocating smoke, Mr. Campbell, who was the first of the occupants awakened by the warning cries, hurriedly fed his own wife and child to a window opening out upon the porch and then hastened to the aid of the Rowes.

Smashing a window one of the men climbed out upon the roof while the other passed his little two children, one at a time. With careful aim the little girls were then dropped into a snow drift twenty feet below. There they were picked up unharmed by Ira Mosher, a neighbor, and hustled into his nearby home.

With the children thus safely out of the women were lowered to the ground by means of a rope which one of the men had hastily fashioned out of a bed sheet. Mrs. Campbell was first to descend and then, with the flames lashing toward the window sill Mrs. Rowe was aided out.

LEAP AS ROOF GIVES WAY.

She had scarcely touched ground when flames broke through the porch roof, which at once began to sag. Without delay both men thereupon leaped down. As they did the roof of the porch crashed in, sending up a shower of sparks.

The members of both families escaped without injury. All were given temporary shelter in the Mosher home.

When, several minutes later, following a long run through the snow, the fire apparatus arrived on the scene the house was practically doomed. The flames raced through both flats bursting through the roof and destroying most of the furnishings in both tenements.

INDIANA CAUCUS RESULTS IN DOUBT

Indianapolis, March 9—The result of Tuesday's State-wide primary will be in doubt for two or three days on account of the neck-and-neck race between Harry S. New and James E. Watson for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Unofficial returns from 2,400 precincts, out of 2,877, give New 72,560 votes and Watson 72,529 votes. On the Republican ticket James P. Goodrich was nominated for Governor, and on the Democratic side John A. M. Adair was conceded to have won. United States Senator John W. Kern had no opposition for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

GIVEN MONTH FOR SMASHING CELL

When Joseph Campbell was locked up in Station 4 while under the influence of liquor he demanded to be given the evening papers. When his call was not heeded he proceeded to smash the furnishings of the cell. In the local court today Judge Day sentenced Campbell to one month in the House of Correction. The drunkenness charge was filed.

The wrecking lighter Reliance set to work today to raise the seven freight cars which were dumped into the dock basin at Union wharf when the car float upon which they were standing sprang a leak and sank.

The cars had just been loaded with some $50,000 worth of freight—much of it foodstuffs—from the Metropolitan liner James S. Whitney, here from New York.

When the float began to leak it tilted rapidly and five cars fell overboard. Tugs were rushed to the spot and their pumps were set to work, but the leak was to much for them and the float sank.

The damage cannot be estimated until the cars are raised.

Rae Tanzer Weeps as She Tells How She Is 'Hounded'

By International News Service.

Washington, March 9—In a flood of tears that ended in hysteria, Miss Rae Tanzer told a sub-committee of the House Judiciary committee behind closed doors a weird tale of her experiences with the office of District Attorney Marshall of New York.

The slim, bedraggled girl who sued former Assistant District Attorney Osborne of New York for breach of promise, was the centre of an exciting scene at the Capitol. She told the committee she had been hounded ever since her suit was started.

"I am a marked woman," she said, with a shudder. "Wherever I go the hand of the world is against me. I cannot earn enough to keep myself alive without encountering the sneers and jeers of everyone who meets me."

While the proceedings of the sub-committee were kept secret, it was understood the report to the full committee will outline a charge that there was some agreement between the attorneys of Rae Tanzer and the District Attorney's office by means of which the girl's friends and herself were guaranteed against prosecution under indictments in return for the dropping of the suit against Osborne.

Mayor Feiker Weds Despite Church Tangle

Mayor William H. Feiker of Northampton, according to word that came from New York today, is not a man to be thwarted.

Having set out to be married yesterday, he carried out his intentions in spite of the refusal of the Rev. Dr. Houghton, at the Little Church around the Corner in New York, to perform the ceremony on Ash Wednesday.

The wedding occurred later in the afternoon at the home of the sister of the bride.

The bride was Mrs. Katherine Smith Richards. Feiker has been four times Mayor of Northampton. The bride's home was also in Northampton. Feiker gave his age as forty-seven and his birthplace as Germany. Their romance, Northampton reported today, began on the golf links. They are reported to be at Palm Beach today.

FINE RECEIVER OF STOLEN GOODS

Louis Kaplan, forty-one, of Marion street, East Boston, was fined $40 in the East Boston court today on a charge of receiving a quantity of brass door knobs from thirteen boys who pleaded guilty to stealing them in connection with a series of thefts in that section. He appealed and was held in $400 bonds.

ELEVATED GETS BUSY WITH ITS SNOW SHOVELS

As a result of the stir made by Edward F. Murphy, Commissioner of Public Works, published in the Boston AMERICAN, in which the commissioner declared that the Boston Elevated Railway Company had broken the law with regard to snow removal, and threatened legal proceedings, the Elevated today had 700 men and many cars and flat cars at work removing snow.

The Elevated almost before business hours had removed the snow from Washington and Summer streets in the shopping district and in the vicinity of the North Station.

Commissioner Murphy said: "The Elevated is doing fairly today. But this does not make up for the failure of the company to promptly remove the snow of previous storms."

The Boston AMERICAN, containing Commissioner Murphy's statement, was scarcely on the street before an automobile load of Elevated officials, including Superintendent George S. Tripp, Roadmaster Thomas S. Sullivan and James Smith arrived at City Hall.

They went into conference with Commissioner Murphy. Commissioner Murphy said: "These officials promised to do anything that I asked and to co-operate with the city in every possible way. I asked them why they had not removed the snow earlier in the Winter, but they declined to put themselves on record, and they did not furnish me with information I asked for under date of February 22. They did say that the Elevated had expended $400,000 on snow work this Winter. I do not know whether this is true. I do know, however, that the city has so far expended about $125,000 on snow removal, of which about $25,000 was for contingent work.

"I shall try and get the information, when the Elevated has so far expended $500,000 for snow removal. The Service Commission. After I get the mileage of the Elevated tracks in Boston and compute the area, I can then get the total snow fall from the weather bureau. Then, assuming the Elevated statement of snow expenditures is true, I can easily ascertain the approximate number of cubic yards it claims to have removed.

"The Mayor today received a letter from the Warren Reef Company commending the efforts of city employes in removing snow."

ADA REHAN LEFT $175,000 ESTATE

By International News Service.

New York, March 9—Ada Rehan, former actress, who died on January 8, left an estate of over $175,000. She divided the bulk of her estate between Mrs. Harriet Russell of No. 164 West Ninety-third street and Mrs. Kate Byron of Montclair, N. J., sisters.

She bequeathed Sir Bernard Eric F. Harrington of London, England, which he has had in his care for her for many years. She distributed her jewels among her relatives and friends. They included a single string of seventy-three pearls, a pearl necklace, a diamond and sapphire bracelet, a Jeweled pearl pendant of diamonds and sapphires and a diamond cross.

WHOLESALE FLOUR PRICE CUT AGAIN

Reflecting further weakness in wheat prices, the wholesale price of flour has been reduced ten cents a barrel, making $1 a barrel reduction from recent high. At retail the best grades of flour are selling at $8.50 a barrel, a year ago the price was $10. In the last month the price of May wheat in Chicago has declined 28½ cents a bushel, 22 cents of the cut occurring in the past ten days.

BABY WEEK DAY FOR FATHERS

Today was designated as "Fathers' day" in Boston Baby Week observance. In a paper written for the day by Dr. Ira S. Wile, the modern father was accused of negligence almost criminal.

Dr. Wile declared that the "absent father was a menace to the coming race, and responsible for many unwholesome home conditions.

"The child is jointly owned and should be jointly reared," he said.

"Dr. Jekyll, who has given much thought and time to the discipline and educational development of his own children, sees no less a standard for other American fathers, many of whom, he maintained, had become so engrossed in business that they had little time or inclination for acquaintance with their children.

Dr. Wile's paper said in part:

"The absentee father is the great outstanding flaw in American family life. The father is apparently everywhere except at home and active in everything except in the duty of helping to rear and train his children.

MANY REASONS.

"The reasons for this state of affairs, when few men will think of questioning, are many.

"To be successful the modern business man must be very attentive to his business and strenuous in its pursuit.

"On the other hand there is a well defined belief that rearing children is women's business entirely, and that a man has little or nothing to do with it.

"No greater loss can come to children than to be denied the healthful, helpful influence of a father's love, which a seasoned, mature man may give to his children through his own experiences of life.

Dr. Wile said that many failures in boys and girls could be traced to the time when it might be too late to remedy the defects.

Dr. Henry I. Bowditch of the Boston Floating Hospital, in speaking today on William Pierce's Song Company store of the mental training of a child, said: "A child should be watched as much mentally as physically. Train a child's mind by regular habits," he said.

"There should be regular hours for sleep, regular hours for play, and you are going to win a child even as I don't' with a smile upon your face and a kind word. Tell a child the plain truth. Give it some high name to think about. Like Roosevelt or Wilson. When you find a child does not want to eat oatmeal do not force it on it.

NEVER FORCE EATING.

"If a child refuses to eat something that is good for it, there is something the matter with the child. Any child which is normal never refuses food to eat.

"A child's mind begins to act at about 18 months. Begin the education of it from this time and try to get the child to trust you and place confidence in you.

"I tell my child to sit in the middle of the floor with the hammer in his hand till I go up stairs and get some screws. I find upon return it is still there. Then I tell the child to give me the hammer in its hand.

"This means the child's mind is being developed, because of its trust in you. There is nothing like this implicit confidence on the part of the child which becomes a part of the mental training of the child. I have known young men who have grown up to be straight because they told everything to their mothers and fathers.

Dr. Peter Hunter Thompson of the Massachusetts Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary of the Boston City Hospital spoke of different affections of the baby eyes of the use of the safety pin and how its use would have prevented many being in blind asylums today.

CARE OF EYES.

"Don't be afraid or light for baby's eyes, but be careful that the light does not strike directly in front of the eyes of baby, for baby cannot turn its head as easily as you admit.

Dr. Emmons at the Jordan Marsh Company store spoke of the proper baby care and how labor a part it played in the development of the child.

Dr. Fritz Talbot at the Houghton & Dutton store outlined the care of baby and was followed by questioning at the close of his lecture.

Lectures and clinics in connection with Baby Week were attended today by more mothers than on any previous day. Parents are seeking in the fact that expert information and advice about their infants is to be had from Boston's leading physicians free of charge.

At the Franklin clinic in Norfolk House, Roxbury, babies were present from distant sections of the city, and helpful advice was given full schedules and directions.

In Cambridge moving picture day in the five theatres brought crowds to see films illustrating the value of an educated mother who knows where to get information about her baby.

Several of the milk and baby hygiene clinics were opened to visitors, and offered opportunity to the uninitiated to learn of the splendid care given babies by the nurses and physicians employed by the organization.

3 POTTSVILLE, PA., FIREMEN INJURED

Pottsville, Pa., March 9—Three firemen were slightly injured by falling walls in a fire which destroyed the Slater Theatre and two clothing stores, early today. Small fires started in different parts of the city from the sparks, and for a time several business blocks were threatened. The loss was estimated at $150,000.

Harvard Boys May Again Fill Roles as Girls

The style-like form, the naughty wink and the blond-like loveliness of Billie Munro, the star leading "lady" of the '9's the show, is not to be lost to Harvard dramatics through sad stern edict of the college faculty.

Many will dance in the Hasty Pudding show and sing as sweetly as ever when the club's show, "The Lady Doddies" is staged later in the month.

When a report spread around that the faculty had decided to limit the impersonation of feminine roles by undergraduates to a single season, Billie Munro was naturally disturbed, for he had already taken part in four successive shows.

It has since developed, however, that the faculty did not take any action relative to Munro in again a happy mien.

Tom Douglas, who last year appeared as one of the Hasty Pudding Club "girls," will again fill a feminine role this season.

If the college authorities do decide to limit the impersonation to a single season, the decree will not go into effect until next year.

Information in Dr. Winer of the department of public speaking, disproves of undergraduates playing feminine parts, and also of the young women in the colleges impersonating men.

Treasurer of Baby Week Hails American's Aid

Miss Hazel Whitten of Dorchester, treasurer of the Baby Week committee with headquarters at No. 42 Boylston street, expressed herself today as especially grateful to the Boston AMERICAN and other newspapers for their interest in Baby Week.

"I do not know what we should have done without the aid and splendid backing of the newspapers. To have made the success of Baby Week and the committee is deeply grateful for all that has been done. The Boston AMERICAN is certainly to be commended for devoting so much of its valuable space to the babies."

Mrs. Whitten, who has had charge of selling the baby buttons, is encouraged at the way the public has responded to the plea "Help the Babies."

"Thousands of buttons have been sold," she said, "and young women who have volunteered to sell at the entrances of several of the large stores are doing a flourishing business. This money will be divided among the various baby saving agencies in the city which have need of increased funds if a complete system of baby care is to be established in Boston."

ENGLISH EDITOR TO GIVE PEACE TALK

S. K. Ratcliffe, an English editor, will speak on "Reaping the Whirlwind," at the Massachusetts Woman's Peace Party conference Saturday morning, at 11 o'clock in Pilgrim Hall.

The speaker for the Monday Study Class in the parlor of the South Congregational Church at 10:30 will be Rev. Harris Crook, who will talk on "National Honor and International Service."

Mrs. Helen M. Painter was in court today with her friends to witness the separation trial her husband and he are, she said, not know where Mrs. Ethel D. M. von Rahr, whom she has sued for alienation, was now living.

Mrs. Painter's suit against Mrs. Von Rahr, whom she charges Painter's affections, will be heard later.

Mrs. Von Rahr, it is said, has left her husband, Baron Von Rahr, and is living with Painter's former wife, Mrs. Ethel Painter, at 1 Ware street, Roxbury.

Mrs. Von Rahr, it is said, has left her husband, Baron Von Rahr, and is living with Painter's former wife, Mrs. Ethel Painter, at 1 Ware street, Roxbury.

The facts of the case, it is said, are that Painter and Mrs. Von Rahr became infatuated with each other while Painter was still married to his former wife, and Mrs. Von Rahr was still married to the Baron. Painter's former wife obtained a divorce from him, and Painter and Mrs. Von Rahr became free to marry. Then Painter's former wife married Baron Von Rahr.

INTERVIEWS BY LYLE.

Representative Thomas M. Lyle, who is leading the charge against Foster, has interviewed various men who are said to have contributed among the seven Lyle saw was Bradley. Fred J. Ingalls, counsel for Foster, asked Bradley today what Lyle said on this visit. Bradley replied:

"Most of it was all right. Some of it was not straight, and the other agreed. The intimation was that it was not straight."

Vice-President Hobbs of the Boston & Maine, who has been a witness in the Foster case, testified Foster came into the office of the North station the day after the primaries and told him he said to him: "I presume you are interested in the result." Some of the Boston & Maine residents are contributing to assist in defraying counsel fees.

HOBBS SENT CHECK.

After Mr. Hobbs testified he sent Foster a check for $10 he was asked: "Did he tell you other Summer residents had contributed?" He replied: "Yes. I recall the names of George M. Harvey and Harry Dalton." Mr. Hobbs already testified that he did not contribute anything to the Foster campaign fund, but said he had anything improper was to be done.

Mr. Hobbs' next witness will appear. Coe told him he could collect his witness fee from the counsel for the Democratic committee. A little ripple of laughter was heard from the audience when Mr. Hobbs, as a railroad magnate being interested in witness fee was humorous.

Cavell Nurse Goes to Front.

The Edith Cavell committee announces that Miss Alice Fitzgerald, the Edith Cavell nurse from Massachusetts, has arrived in London and will take charge of the relief work there immediately.

FOSTER'S CASH LIST IS READ

The Foster collection lists were put on the floor this today at the legislative finance committee on the charges brought by Representative James M. Lyle against Representative Harry M. Foster, chairman of conduct committee, in connection with soliciting money from persons interested in measures before the General Court.

The lists were read to Foster's counsel, Fred J. Ingalls, giving names and amounts. Ingalls said the lists were given him by Foster. They showed that Foster collected from the Gloucester-Rockport crowd and about $175 for the filmmaker fund. Another list of the road with contributions date from December 1 last to January 31. Mr. Ingalls read them as follows:

George W. Harvey	$150
C. B. Martin	50
F. C. Rockwell, Gloucester	50
A Sanford Litter, 70 Kilby street	25
J. R. Reynolds	25
D. F. Reardon, 1310 Washington street	25
C. S. Robinson, 1337 Washington street	20
William Hobbs, vice-president Boston & Maine Railroad	10
Philip R. Hovey, 50 State street	5
L. R. Kaufman, 18 Tremont street	5
C. D. Wheeler, 85 Kilby street	25
J. F. Mosely, 230 State street	5

HARBOR BILL LIST.

Ingalls continued: Mr. Foster tells me he has given a list of names received on account of the harbor bill.

Speaker Channing H. Cox, chairman of the finance committee, asked for the names, and Ingalls read as follows:

Benjamin A. Smith	$150
Frank Pierce	50
Harold B. Jordan	25
A. Lyman Brady	25
Patrick J. O'Brien	25
Charles Herter	25
William Parkins	10
Thomas Reed	15
	$375

Ingalls concluded: "That is all and covered and received by Mr. Foster on the subject of the harbor bill."

The first testimony that Foster collected for other legislators than the road bill came early in today's session when Thomas F. Reed, of Cummers Pavilion, whose offices the chairman Mrs. von Rahr alienated and Mrs. von Rahr's divorce suit against Painter's former wife, testified to that theme.

Mrs. Von Rahr, according to Painter's husband, Mrs. von Rahr is a woman of wealth and social position in Boston, and she and Painter's former wife were intimate friends. Painter's former wife obtained a divorce from him, and Painter and Mrs. von Rahr became free to marry. Then Painter's former wife married Baron Von Rahr.

The families of both Painter and Baron Von Rahr formerly lived at No. 12 Ivy street, Boston.

DISPUTE FIGURES AT MILK HEARING

The hearing before Examiner Brown of the Interstate Commerce Commission, relative to the proposed increase of the milk transportation rates from the Boston district, was continued today by John F. Carroll, secretary of the milk committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, who read a report of the committee. At the noon recess, representing the U. P. Hood Company, Attorney Ralph Hood of Mr. Grant brought out the fact that the Hood company was opposed to the opinion as genuine cooperation by the dairymen. Mr. Hood's testimony showed that the Hood company had not benefited from the proposed open car rates.

MARY ANDERSON ON STAGE FOR CHARITY

London, March 9—Mary Anderson appeared on the stage in behalf of a fund for disabled soldiers of a Worcestershire regiment. She played the part of Rosalind in "As You Like It," her role being one of her old triumphs. Charles W. H. Gilbert's "Comedy and Tragedy" was the other play rushed and the performances netted $1,000. Miss Anderson received a special purse her retirement twenty-five years ago.

EIGHT AMERICANS SLAIN IN BORDER BATTLE

Central Hotel, from which the guests and employes ran when it was found that the building was in flames.

W. T. Ritchie, proprietor of the hotel, was shot to death as he stepped outside the door.

The commander of the American military forces at Columbus was immediately notified of the attack and three troops of the Thirteenth cavalry responded.

From windows and behind houses the American soldiers and the Mexican invaders fought for more than an hour, but the Mexicans finally fled, about 8 o'clock, leaving their dead and wounded.

The Mexicans were in possession of the city of Columbus from 4:30 a. m. today until 8 o'clock.

The Central Hotel was one of the first buildings fired by the Mexican invaders. Americans stood in front of the building and as the guests were fleeing into the street fired volley after volley at them.

The raiding Mexicans scattered about the business district, shooting indiscriminately. C. C. Miller was shot as he attempted to enter the Hoover Hotel.

In the heart of the business district of the city a score of women and children cowered in terror in a small house as the howling band of Mexicans ran to and fro, yelling and firing their rifles and revolvers in the air.

Before attacking the town of Columbus the bandits started to make a raid on the camp of the Thirteenth Cavalry. Several American soldiers were killed and wounded, and as the troopers formed to charge the bandits sent away the saddles, taking with them a number of cavalry horses. They went in the direction of the Mexican border and the United States soldiers followed them.

SOLDIERS SHOT TO KILL.

Later news of the attack upon Columbus reached the camp and three troops dashed into the town to drive out the bandits.

Practically none of the Mexican, who stopped bullets of American soldiers was wounded. The troopers shot to kill, and the bodies or dead Mexicans that littered the streets where the rioting had been fiercest, testified to the marksmanship of the cavalrymen.

The official report of the riot sent by Colonel Herbert Slocum, commander, of the Thirteenth, to his brigade commander at Douglas, Ariz., follows:

The camp was attacked at 4:30 this morning by a force of Mexicans from across the border. The attack was repulsed and now at 5:45 a. m. the Mexicans are retreating towards the border to the southeast. I have sent mounted troops in pursuit. Several buildings were burned in the town, so far as known the only loss has been four men killed and three wounded. The number of civilians killed in town is not known.

A number of dead Mexican soldiers are lying around town and in our camp. All firing has ceased. No help necessary.

(Signed) SLOCUM.

Reports of the clash between the rebel leader and American troops followed soon after the receipt of unconfirmed reports that two Americans named Franklin and Wright were killed by Villa bandits Monday at Pacheco, between Casas Grandes and Janos, Chihuahua.

The advices contained nothing as to the fate of the wife and small son of Mr. Wright, who were reported with the men at Pacheco.

Slaying of Wrights Partly Confirmed

Washington, March 9.—The State Department today received dispatches from its consular agents at El Paso, tending to confirm the reported killing of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, Americans, by Villista bandits, near Pacheco, Mexico.

While the department declines to make public the dispatches, it was admitted that it was practically certain the Americans were murdered. Absolute confirmation, it was stated, is all that is lacking.

DRIFTING BUOY ALARMS SKIPPER

Captain Lamb of the steamship Berwind, sugar laden, from the West Indies, got the scare of his life while piloting his ship around Cape Cod. "First thing we knew," said Captain Lamb, when he docked in Boston today, "a whistling buoy was following right under our bows. We thought we may have strayed in the thick weather and all hands had visions of a hands on Peaked Hill Bar. Imagine our surprise to learn today that we ran afoul of a whistling buoy which was ripped away from her moorings off Cape Ann."

SENATOR GORE ON BOSTON VISIT FLAYS MAD-CAP AMERICANS

Senator Gore was the author of the resolution opposing the President's submarine policy which was tabled by the Senate a few days ago.

"How do you feel, Senator, about the defeat of your resolution?"

"Oh, I feel satisfied. I accomplished all I hoped for. But let us not talk about that. I regard that incident as closed. As to the widely told story that I had information the President had and he did not think it would be such a bad thing if this nation were brought into the war, I must decline to be quoted."

"How do you feel as to our national defenses, as to preparedness?"

"There are some things we ought to do we must do. They are the training of plenty of officers, the training of boys in the high schools and the colleges, the bringing up to the highest efficiency of our coast defences, the complete organization of submarine fleets and of our aerial forces. These must be attended to, and in complete style. But, while I go this far, I am opposed to militarism in the United States. Militarism is incompatible with our idea of American democracy. We want none of it."

NO FEAR OF WAR.

"Do you fear war against the United States?"

"Not for a moment. There isn't a cloud in sight as large as a man's hand. None of those warring nations can arise from this bed of slaughter in any condition or desire to war with America."

"But might war come out of the sinking of a merchant vessel with American lives among the lost?

"Yes, there is the great danger just now. The difficulty is to determine when a merchant vessel carrying passengers, including Americans is armed for offensive or defensive.

"Is there any way of determining?"

"Well, all I can say is it depends on the state of mind of the captain. That state of mind, as to whether he thinks it the proper moment, that he is defending his ship while the submarine commander may think the opposite, may lead to that captain forfeiting the lives of his passengers."

AT COMMERCE DINNER.

Senator Gore spoke at 1 o'clock before the members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon in the American House on the question of a permanent tariff commission.

In summing up his speech the Senator said:

"Everyone's attitude in regard to a tariff commission must depend upon his answers to the following questions:

"First—Should facts have any influence in the determination of articles to be taxed and the rate of duties to be imposed?

"Second—Is a tariff commission a better agency to ascertain the facts than a congressional committee?

"He who answers these two questions in the affirmative must favor a commission. He who answers either in the negative must oppose a commission.

"There are two opposing classes, one the ultra protectionist, who would make duties arbitrarily high, who would insist upon a maximum of protection, who does not care to be vexed with the consciousness that duties exceed the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad. The other class is the ultra free trader, who would demand the immediate repeal of all duties and the immediate transition to free trade without calculating the consequences either upon private business or public revenues.

"Between these two there are two larger classes, two largest sections of opinion, two distinct schools of thought. One is made up—I speak with poetic license—of Progressives and Republicans, who believe that tariff rates should be graduated to cover the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad. Facts are, of course, indispensable to the application of this theory.

"Such a commission is an inevitable step in the evolution of international commerce.

"The commission should consist of an even number of commissioners—say six. Not more than three of these should be of any one political party. To make the number odd you impeach in advance either its capacity or its sincerity.

"The business men of America have a right to ask the establishment of such a commission at the hands of Congress. It is not prophecy, it is simply coming events casting their light before, to say that the willy conflicts of the world will tribute their full share to that splendid destiny which the Future holds in reserve for this Republic."

Bread Wins!

For its nourishing, strength-building qualities bread is an easy winner over all other foods.

The sturdy New England patriots, who fought so splendidly for our country's liberty, were large eaters of bread.

One of the important things in the war to-day is supplying strength-giving, yeast-raised bread to the men in the trenches—no other food is so sustaining.

EAT PLENTY of PURE BREAD

In the battle of life, whether fought in the trench, in the field or at a desk, good food counts and good food always includes plenty of pure bread—the kind that's made with

Pride

PRIDE is just an honest appreciation of worthiness. Pride in your home, your family, your work—it is fitting and proper to have such a feeling. But many a man who can't afford it buys a car high in first cost and high in operating cost. This is not pride. It is a sacrifice to pride—and sometimes a disastrous sacrifice.

Maxwell owners take a just pride in their cars, because they know that Maxwell Motor Cars are products of quality and character. They know that no other car is better made, that no other car has greater endurance, reliability and genuine merit through and through. And they know that these things were finally proved when the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Endurance Record a short time ago, by running 22,000 miles in 44 days without stopping the engine or making any repairs or readjustments.

Let us demonstrate the Maxwell and explain our partial payment plan, whereby everyone can own and drive a real car, a light weight inexpensive car. All you have to do is to make a deposit, then take the car home and pay the balance as you ride.

At the automobile show you can see the Maxwell, both as a strippd chassis and as a complete car in a wide variety of body styles. A cordial welcome awaits you at our space.

HOLD FUNERAL OF KEARNS ON SATURDAY

The funeral of Thomas F. Kearns, ex-Mayor of Waltham, whose body was found yesterday in the Charles River at Watertown, will be held Saturday morning. Members of the Board of Aldermen and of last year's board will attend in a body. There will also be delegations from the many fraternal organizations of which the late Mayor was a member. The heads of city departments will also attend.

Services will be conducted at St. Mary's Catholic Church at 10 a. m., with a requiem high mass celebrated by Rev. Timothy Reenhaun, the pastor. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Medical Examiner West announced his intention today of holding an inquest to clear the mystery surrounding ex-Mayor Kearns' death. From his first examination he decided that death was due to drowning, but until an inquest is held he cannot say whether it was due to accident or suicide.

It is the common belief that the ex-Mayor threw himself into the river while temporarily deranged through an attack of grip.

CONVENTION BILL GIVEN TO HOUSE

Another step toward a constitutional convention was taken today when the House Ways and Means Committee reported the convention bill favorably in the House. The only changes made by the committee were to eliminate the requirement that the maximum salary of the convention members be $750, and that the mileage compensation should be the same as paid to members of the Legislature. Both those matters are left for the convention to decide.

NEW WAR SECRETARY TAKES UP MEXICO

Washington, March 9.—Newton Diehl Baker today took up his duties as Secretary of War. He was inducted into office at 11 o'clock. A few minutes later he was going over with General Hugh Scott, chief of staff, reports of a battle between Villistas and United States troops at Columbus, N. M., in which seven Americans were killed.

BELMONT DIVORCE TRIAL OPENS SOON

By International News Service.

New York, March 9.—Trial of the divorce suit of Mrs. Lorraine Belmont against Raymond Belmont, August Belmont's son, is expected in about two weeks. Justice Finch, in the Supreme Court, at the request of the petitioner's counsel, has issued an order that the case come to trial. Mrs. Belmont was a chorus girl when Belmont married her in 1913. She filed suit in November, 1915. Her allegations have not been disclosed. She is now enjoying $100 a month alimony.

STRIKE IN SPANISH NAVAL ARSENAL

Madrid, March 9.—Six workmen have been killed and a number of other persons wounded, including six policemen, in disorders resulting from the general strike in progress at Carthagena. The strike has extended to El Ferrol and Barcelona. El Ferrol is the chief naval arsenal in Spain.

STRIKE CLASH IN WATERTOWN; 2 ARRESTED

Two more were arrested outside the plant of the Hood Rubber Company in Watertown today, after trouble in connection with the strike in the plant.

Stephen Agamjian was later arraigned in the Waltham court on a charge of assault and battery on Patrolman Vennon S. Brown, and Nazareth Vahakian is charged with assault and battery on John Hanley. Each was held in $500 till Saturday, after pleading not guilty.

The trouble started, according to reports from Chairman of the officials to induce strikers to return to work. Then some pickets baited strikers going back to work, and that the trouble followed, only four men besides the police officers being directly involved.

There are twenty-five strikers at the Cambridge Rubber Company's plant who are co-operating with those on strike at the Hood plant.

ARCHITECT PRIZES AWARDED STUDENTS

The judges in the 1916 competition for the prizes offered by the Boston Society of Architects announce awards to the following students: Massachusetts Institute of Technology, two prizes of $50 each, to Osborn R. Freeman of Helena, Mont., a senior, and Virgil W. Jorgensen of Cambridge, a special student; Harvard University, one prize of $50 to Sigmund Nesnerouh of Roxbury and to students of the Boston Architectural Club, one prize of $25 to Rudolph De Ghetto.

WESTFIELD POLICE CONFRONT STRIKERS

Westfield, March 9.—Striking moulders of the H. B. Smith Company's Main street plant started rioting again today in an attempt to prevent workers from entering the place. The local police force, with the aid of fifteen State police and twenty-five special officers, succeeded in holding the mob in control and about seventy-five employes slipped past the rioters into the foundry.

A BUSINESS MAN MAKES STATEMENT

John F. Reilly Relates Story to Plant Juice Man at Houghton & Dutton's

People who are nervous and irritable, who lack energy and ambition, feel blue and discouraged, suffer from headaches, dizziness, backache, weak memory, bad blood circulation and unsound sleep should take heed in time, for these are never-failing signs of a deranged stomach. The new herbal system tonic, Plant Juice, is designed to meet just such a contingency; it acts directly on the stomach, causing the food to digest perfectly, thereby relieving the suffering immediately, and if taken a short time the results will be permanent.

Local testimonials are received daily in substantiation of this statement. One of the latest is that of Mr. John F. Reilly, who lives at No. 26 Main Street, Franklin, Mass. Mr. Reilly has lived in Franklin for 30 years and is a well-known business man in Boston, being the owner of a local express line for the last 10 years. He stated: "I had stomach trouble, indigestion, dyspepsia for years, and I was so badly affected that I would throw up my food after eating. I also had headaches, dizzy spells, belching of gas and fermentation of food in my stomach. About three weeks ago I had a dizzy spell and things seemed black to me, and I had to hold on to the counter to keep from falling. I was troubled with constipation and my liver was affected. I have taken Plant Juice for only a week and I can say that I am feeling fine, my food agrees with me, no more aches or pains, no lying or gas belching, and the dizzy spells are all gone. I can certainly recommend Plant Juice to any one."

The Plant Juice man is at the drug department of the Houghton & Dutton Co.'s Store, where he daily meets the local public and introduces and explains this remedy.—Advertisement.

SLIVERS, NOTED CLOWN, DIES FOR LOVE

New York, March 9.—Theatrical and circus people were amazed today to learn of the love story of Frank Oakley, known over the world as Slivers, the Barnum & Bailey clown, which led to his suicide.

Twelve hours after the girl, who had been sent to the Bedford reformatory for stealing his jewels, nearly three years ago, had refused to marry him and get a parole from the institution, Slivers turned on the gas in his room in a theatrical boarding house on West Seventy-first street.

REPRIEVED GIRL.

It was early in 1913 that Slivers was playing up-State in the same vaudeville bill with Viola Stoll, a pretty blonde not yet seventeen years old. One night she told him, crying, that she had lost her job. The clown was well over forty, and when he offered her a ticket to New York she accepted. A day or so later when he came back and proposed to the girl that she come to his apartment she accepted. Oakley came home one day and said to the girl, "Here's some jewelry for you."

The gems were worth $4,000 or $5,000, and they had been the property of Oakley's wife, who was dead.

Oakley went to Baltimore. When he came back to New York the next day he found the girl and the jewels gone. The police arrested the girl at the home of her step-father. She had pawned one diamond piece for $200; the rest of the jewels were still in her possession.

MEETS HER MOTHER.

Viola was sentenced in June to three years in the Bedford Reformatory and for a long time afterward Oakley saw and heard nothing of her. Then, about six months ago, he met her mother, also an actress, in Chicago.

He came back to New York and last Wednesday went to the reformatory and talked to Mrs. Moore, the superintendent. It is understood Oakley told Mrs. Moore he wanted to marry the girl and take her away with him.

ARTIST'S MODEL, MOTHER OF 4, ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Hayes, a Titian-haired artist's model and the mother of four children, who have also posed for numerous Boston artists, has filed suit for divorce, accusing her husband, Jeremiah J. Hayes, of cruel and abusive treatment and of threatening to kill her.

With two of her children, all of whom inherit her Titian hair, Mrs. Hayes recently posed for a painting by Mary D. Page, which is called "The Tenement Mother." For some time the services of the mother and children have been in demand in the Back Bay studios.

Mrs. Hayes is twenty-eight and her husband, whom she married last September, is twenty-two. She was then a widow with five children, one of whom has since died. She lives in the South End.

"Within a month of our marriage," said Mrs. Hayes, "he beat me and was harsh to the children. He had told me he would be good to me and to the little ones, that was why I married him. The children were in much demand by many artists. We posed nearly every day, always as people of the tenements. It came easy to us, I suppose, because we always lived up to our work.

"Once my husband called my children 'little brats.'"

25 QUIT AT FELT MILL IN FRANKLIN

Franklin, March 9.—Twenty-five men employed by the American Felt Company at South Franklin, struck when the company refused to grant their demands for an increase in wages of $1 per week for each man in the pulling mill. Superintendent Roth said the labor is unskilled, and that the men, through overtime work, have been averaging from $19.50 to $20.50 a week.

Two Men Fined $400 Each Upon Bad Egg Charge

Two men were fined $400 each by Judge Creed in the Municipal Court today for violation of the statute regulating eggs, which was drawn by Harry P. Cassidy, the AMERICAN'S pure food expert.

Max Silver, a baker, with a store on Barton street, West End, was found guilty of using decayed eggs in the manufacture of bread and of accepting decayed eggs in an establishment where food is prepared. He was fined $200 on each count. He appealed and was held in $500.

Max Richmond, an egg merchant with an office in East Boston and a residence at No. 8 Willard street, West End, was charged with selling thirty dozen decayed eggs to Max Silver and with delivering decayed eggs to an establishment where food is prepared. He was fined $200 on each count and was held in $500 when he appealed.

Five other bakers and a wholesale dealer were in court charged with violating the egg statute, but their cases were continued until next Tuesday. The defendants were: David Stahl, No. 97 Salem street; Benjamin Selig, No. 54 Popular street; Julius Horwitz, No. 7 Parkman street; Herman Cohen, No. 12 Barton street; Samuel Cohen, No. 16 Wall street; Alexander Rutstein, No. 111 Fulton street.

'Happy' Is Ready for Ball Guests Tomorrow Night

Last call for the Happy Twenty cabaret and ball. All out for the biggest, brightest and best entertainment ever given in cultured and conservative Boston.

Tomorrow night is the night of nights and Convention Hall is the place. The doors will open at 7:30, and those who come first will avoid the well-known rush. There will be room for all, however, and those who have failed to secure tickets may obtain them at the door.

At the present writing the program is believed to be complete, but there is always a possibility that "Happy," the "King of the Newsies," will "put something over" in the way of additional talent at the last minute.

Between cabaret, dancing and beautiful souvenirs for the first 500 women to enter the hall, the affair is destined to establish a new record for such entertainments.

The dancing will begin at 9 o'clock and will last until 2. The cabaret is scheduled to begin at 10 p. m. and finish at 4 in the morning.

Besides the "Fashion Plate," which is a deep and dark mystery, the other acts include:

Zarita, Helen Roberts, Blanche Scribner, Esther Bay, Sophie Bennett, Della Tuttle, Jennie Quinn, Bill Gleason, Jack Hewit, Victor Viverios and The Feist Singers. There will also be exponents of the modern dances, who will show how they should be performed.

COLLEGE PUTS ITS BAN ON LOW NECKS

By International News Service.

New York, March 9.—A wave of dress reform is spreading through Teachers' College at Columbia University. The juniors are holding meetings, and the sophomores are listening wide-eyed to the mandates laid down by the upper classmen.

"Something more than the grace of God and a rose must hold a girl's shoulder straps in place at a college dance."

That is the dean's ultimatum.

"We are not preaching the gospel of blankets, just fluffs," Miss Lucetta Daniell, social director of Teachers' College, declared today. "Tulle gives an illusion of substance, and these new sleeveless gowns"—an expressive shrug finished the sentence.

It all started at the junior prom, several nights ago. That night a board of censorship was formed almost automatically. Three girls appeared on the dance floor with dresses that Kitty Gordon would have adored.

Very quietly three young ladies were marshaled into the office of the director the next day. A long, earnest conversation ensued. Then the dress reform movement was inaugurated.

Today a few "don'ts" that the juniors insisted freshmen and sophomores must follow in the future were in circulation among the girls. Here are a few of the more important ones:

Don't appear in classes without a high collar. A round neck is tolerable, but a V-shaped collar will no longer be permitted on the campus.

Wear tulle with your evening gown. If you insist on just a strap or velvet for a sleeve, wear a tulle muffler. The illusion helps.

Skirts more than ten inches from the floor will not be tolerated on the dance floor.

Decolleté is permissible, but there are a few restrictions, namely: age, good taste and the fine art of making a gown really becoming.

Don't wear white shoes. Even clay-colored shoes are freakish and unladylike.

If you must wear veils try to get those that do not give the idea of an acute case of smallpox. Practice moderation in all things.

Evening gowns with bodices in name only will hereafter be strictly forbidden at all college functions.

White

Custom Designed Bodies

AMONG purchasers of highest grade motor cars today there is a marked preference for custom-built bodies. The stock product has become commonplace—an inevitable result of quantity production and lower price levels.

The White Company anticipated this tendency a year ago, by having its bodies designed by a noted custom body maker and by standardizing in its regular models all the refined characteristics of the made-to-order product.

A staff of experienced custom makers embody in White Cars the same grace of line, individual appointments, imported materials, and that nicety of construction which only expensive hand labor can produce. The refinement and distinguished appearance of the standard White body, made in the factory at Cleveland, is equalled only in a body individually ordered from the best custom builders.

A STYLE EXHIBIT

At the Automobile Show

The White exhibit in Mechanics Building comprises exclusively custom-designed models and is a noteworthy delineation of authoritative and uncommon body styles. From this standpoint it will be of absorbing interest to all purchasers of high grade motor cars.

To Chase the Chill—

Burn Socony Kerosene

THERE'S nothing like a good oil heater for warming up chilly places and helping out the regular heating system in extra cold weather.

An efficient oil heater (we recommend the Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater) will give ten hours of clear, odorless heat on a gallon of kerosene. It will not smoke and it will not give off odor, so long as you are careful to fill it with reliable fuel.

The best way to make sure of always getting safe, clean, dependable fuel is to buy it by name. Say "Socony" (So-CO-ny) to the grocer's boy when he comes to take your oil can. Socony Kerosene Oil is the name of the Standard Oil Company of New York's best kerosene. It is a quality product—so much better than ordinary kerosene that it is decidedly worth asking for.

If your dealer sells genuine Socony Kerosene he will display the Socony sign in his window. Look for this sign. It is a quality sign and one of the easiest ways to recognize a reliable dealer.

We recommend the following oil burning devices as the best of their kind: New Perfection Oil Cookstoves and Water Heaters, Perfection Smokeless Oil Heaters, Rayo Lamps and Lanterns.

RECIPE TO STOP DANDRUFF

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To half a pint of water add: Bay Rum ..... 1 oz. Barbo Compound..... a small box Glycerine ..... ½ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Girls! Draw a cloth through your hair and double its beauty.

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.—Advertisement.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.—Advertisement.

A Single Application Banishes Every Hair

(The Modern Beauty)

Here is how any woman can easily and quickly remove objectionable, hairy growths without possible injury to the skin. Make a paste with some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off. Wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a painless, inexpensive method and, excepting where the growth is unusually thick, a single application is enough. You should, however, be careful to get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

Tremendous Crowds Brave Weather to See Auto Show

DOUBLED SALES BREAK SHOW RECORDS

By J. C. KERRISON.

In spite of the inclement weather thousands of people visited the Automobile Show yesterday and today, marking a record for show crowds under present weather conditions for Boston.

Automobile men from other cities visiting the show were astonished at the thousands who visited the exhibition in Mechanics Building yesterday, and also at the big crowd on hand today, rivaling the throng of yesterday. The weather, too, has not deterred the practical demonstration of cars out-of-doors.

Each exhibitor has one or more cars on the outside of the building, in which prospective customers are taken out for demonstrations. The heavy streets, filled with slush and snow, have come as a godsend to the exhibitors, for they now can show what their machines can do in stormy weather as well as when the streets are in perfect condition.

The crowds at the show today promised to outrival the attendance for the four previous days of the exhibition. Numbered among the visitors today were many dealers from out of town cities and State distributors for cars, who are in town to see the men from the factories and the New England distributors.

The present Automobile Show has set a mark for sales, doubling those of previous Boston Auto Shows. Never before have so many cars been sold for the first half week of an automobile show as have been ordered by purchasers since the opening Saturday. The sales so far are in advance of the total sales for last year's show, according to the dealers, and a majority are for immediate and early Spring delivery.

The accessory dealers, too, are doing a big business at the show, surpassing, they say, all previous sales at other exhibitions. Since the opening of the show many new buyers have purchased accessories for cars to be delivered, from dealers at the show.

Motor Show Notes

Chase Langmaid of the Needham Tire Company is decidedly busy these days receiving congratulations upon his taking control of the sales end of this organization, which is putting out a tire of merit, and backed by a guarantee and an organization of recognized ability.

* * *

James Dunlop, sales manager of the Chandler Motor Company, is spending the week in this city as the guest of Mr. Nettleton and Mr. Crittenden of the Chandler Motors Company of New England. This is Mr. Dunlop's first visit to a Boston show and he unhesitatingly pronounces it as among the best which he has ever attended. He said that when one witnesses the interest exhibited and the manner in which the local organization works, one can readily understand why it is that the Boston organization is always insisting upon increasing its allotment: "Things at the factory," said he, "are going along in fine shape, and this will be a record year."

* * *

R. E. Taylor of the R. E. Taylor Corporation, distributors of the Garford, was another visitor to Boston yesterday, and he was busy all day shaking hands with his friends who are legion.

* * *

H. H. Rice of the Marmon Company says that the interest exhibited in the latest Marmon, great though it may be, is only in keeping with the great interest displayed at the previous shows this year. This motor, constructed of aluminum alloy, is really one of the features of the show.

* * *

F. B. Caswell, formerly of Melrose and prominent in the affairs of the Champion Spark Plug of Toledo, entertained a number of Boston newspaper men at dinner at the Copley-Plaza. Advertising Manager Corey of the Champion company was among the guests.

* * *

F. T. Bush of the Studebaker Company arrived today at the show. He was warm in his praise of the exhibition and of the splendid showing that the Studebaker golden chassis is making.

* * *

John H. MacAlman, representative of the Stearns-Knight, had word from F. R. Stearns, president of the company, from Palm Beach, Fla., congratulated the Boston papers for their big advertising displays last Sundays and to the automobile dealers for their successful show.

* * *

H. M. Cole, general sales manager of the Autocar, had a very successful field day at the show yesterday.

One of the best trucks on the market will be sold in New England shortly as a result of the exhibit here of the United Truck of Grand Rapids, Mich. The company is represented by George H. Duck, general sales manager, and he will stay here for some time until agencies are placed. The United Truck is made of the best known units from the most successful makers of parts in this country.

"We figured it out in our plant that the men who make one thing only, such as a spring, know better how to make their product than if we had a place in our plant trying to do with crowded quarters," says George H. Duck, sales manager.

* * *

In keeping with the spirit of progress, which dominates the Boice-Perrine Company, this enterprising firm is charging, at their spaces in the show, storage batteries used in their different exhibits. This is done by means of a Fort Wayne rotary converter or motor generator set which is a miniature electric station consisting of a motor, generator, switchboard, switches, ammeters and other electrical instruments found on a central station switchboard.

A large delegation from the Firestone Tire & Rubber factory is in attendance at the Automobile Show. Among the factory's representatives are D. S. Swander, district manager; R. S. Babcox, advertising manager; C. R. Sorrick, manager of pneumatic sales, and C. H. Gerhold, manager of accessory sales.

ELMER APPERSON, president and general manager of the Apperson Bros.' Automobile Company, who has been granted a design patent on the "Chummy" auto exhibited at the Motor Show.

Frank L. Brown, New England distributor for Apperson cars, announced yesterday that the United States government has granted Elmer Apperson pioneer automobile manufacturer and president and general manager of Apperson Bros.' Automobile Company of Kokomo, Ind., a design patent on the "Chummy" four-passenger cars.

This is the first time in the history of the automobile industry that the United States patent office has recognized a novel idea in automobile body construction. This model, which has been signaled for this distinction, is a true roadster type in exterior appearance, although it seats four passengers.

The seating arrangement provides two individual seats, divided by an aisle-way, with the rear seat accommodating two grown people with comfort.

JEFFERY LAUDS BOSTON'S AUTO ENTHUSIASM

President Charles T. Jeffery of the Thomas B. Jeffery Company, in an interview today, praised Bostonians and New Englanders generally for their "motor enthusiasm," and declared that it was a pleasure to see how thousands upon thousands showed their deep interest in automobiles by braving the worst kind of weather in order to see the great motor show.

"It is a revelation to me," said Mr. Jeffrey, "to see the way thousands upon thousands of New Englanders are crowding through the doors of Mechanics Building. They are compelled to come through the worst kind of blizzards and wade through deep snow and slush to get there, yet men and women alike are turning out in tremendous throngs to examine the latest creations of motordom. This in itself is a fine comment on the motor car enthusiasm of New England."

LUDLAM TELLS OF AUTOCAR'S SUCCESS

The Autocar branch managers have, during the past two days, been treated to an object lesson in salesmanship and service while attending their conventions here in Boston. President Ludlam, sales manager H. M. Coates and Advertising Manager Whittemore were present from the factory at Ardmore, Pa., and the duties of entertainment fell on the shoulders of H. F. Page, Jr., the local distributor.

The convention was for the purpose of a "get-together" of the branch managers and for the discussion of sales. President Ludlam pointed out the method which has been followed out successfully in New England, so successfully, in fact, that it has trebled the number of Autocar trucks in this vicinity in the past two years.

"The big business throughout the country has shown that the truck is indispensible; the automobile business is healthy and the demand for early deliveries are enormous," said Mr. Ludlam. "Because of this big demand our factories are running full time and work is being hastened on our new models."

Mr. Ludlam also complimented the local branch for its salesmanship, and the excellence of the Autocar display at the show.

OVERLAND AUTO DEALERS HAVE BIG BANQUET

Two hundred and fifty Overland dealers enjoyed the genial dinner of the Boston Zone of the Willys-Overland Company at the Copley Plaza after the Auto Show last night. Manager Sawyer of the Boston Zone presided, and the guests of the evening were General Sales Manager H. H. Harper, Assistant Sales Manager Joseph Mc-Bodine, H. H. Bowen, Jr., one of the Knight interests, Herbert G. Mudge, dock of the Guarantee Security Company and L. D. Gibbs, of the Edison Company.

All of the guests made interesting addresses on the several features of the motor industry. Mr. Harper called attention to the fact that every one in six cars sold is a Willys product and that the coming year would see a tremendous increase in the capacity of the big plant at Toledo. Mr. Gibbs spoke on service, opening up a new line of thought for the man who sells motor cars.

ITCHY RASH ON CHEST AND FACE

Later On Shoulders and Back. Burned Like Fire. Had No Rest at Night.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had a rash which began on my chest and face, later going to my shoulders and back. It was very itchy and I had to scratch it which made it burn like fire, and the skin was sore and inflamed. When my clothing would rub against it, it caused irritating and burning which was very uncomfortable and I had no rest at night, for after getting to bed I would go to sleep for a few moments only to be waked up again.

"I let the rash go for about a week when I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After the first application they started to stop the burning and after I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and four cakes of Cuticura Soap I was healed." (Signed) Wm. C. Don't Fail to See the G. V. Exhibit at the Auto Show

You're cordially invited; we want to prove to you that the G. V. Electric is the one satisfactory solution to 85% of city trucking problems.

G. V. Electrics are dependable under all conditions; otherwise hard-headed business men would cease to buy them.

Give us the opportunity and we'll prove to your final satisfaction that for city and suburban use, the right electric is fifty per cent cheaper to operate than the average gas truck.

G. V. Electric Trucks

prove their efficiency, not by spectacular stunts or records made under favorable conditions, but by low cost daily performance.

The Burton-Furber Company have just purchased their third heavy duty G. V. Electric. Their business demanded a more efficient delivery service. Horse-drawn trucks were too slow, too costly—and demonstrations of other trucks failed to meet their requirements. Hence the selection of the G. V.

Come in and let us show you (and ourselves), how you can add efficiency and cut costs by using G. V. Electrics. This without obligation—and remember—we must both be convinced or we will decline to install our trucks.

TRAINER LEWIS BALKS

Orders Moran to Take It Easy Until Saturday—Fears Challenger Getting Too Fine.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Willie Lewis, Frank Moran's trainer, said today that the challenger would not do any more work in preparation for his match with Willard until Saturday.

Lewis feels impelled to restrain Moran because the challenger has been working too hard.

"When I send him out on the roads to do three miles, he does seven, he simply cannot resist the open air," said Lewis. "In the gym it's the same way. Frank throws himself heart and soul into his work, and forgets that his objective is the bout with Willard on March 27.

MORAN IS READY NOW.

"His present condition, due to his stay at Saratoga, also warrants a rest. Frank is ready right now physically, and because of this we've got to take things easy. There is so much at stake I want him to be right, not overtrained.

"He has always shown a desire for overwork. I've been with Frank for seven years now, and I know him thoroughly. I trained him for his bout with Jack Johnson to Paris and it was the same thing then."

Moran yesterday put in his lightest day since the articles for the Willard match were signed. He was up early and before breakfast jogged seven miles over the snow-covered ground. Lewis sent him out for a three-mile hike.

STAYS OUT OF THE GYM.

He stayed away from the gym, but spent most of the morning punching the conventional bag with visitors among whom were Jack McAuliffe and "Billy" Muldoon, the gay old timers.

TROWBRIDGE NAMED TO PILOT EVERETT

Raymond Trowbridge, Everett High's sterling all-round athlete, has been elected captain of this year's nine. He was substitute catcher and right fielder on the 1915 team. Catcher Rufus Bond, now at Harvard, is the only important loss. Pitchers Allie Dutton and Tim Hood are back, while the old batting infield is practically intact.

A DEAD HEAT IN THE 600.

Dorchester High's intermediates and juniors defeated their namesakes at Boston Latin, in their annual dual track meet, 71½-58½. The 600-yard run resulted in a dead heat between Craft (D) and Wood (L).

Choynski Favors Jess 'Should Defeat Moran'

By JOE CHOYNSKI,

Contender for Heavyweight Championship from 1884 to 1900, and Only Man, Aside from Willard, to Knock Out Jack Johnson.

PITTSBURGH, March 9.—My sympathies are with Frank Moran, but I cannot figure where he has a chance to beat Willard in their coming fight. Willard should beat Moran decisively.

I don't look for a knockout. Ten rounds is a short distance. Still I believe that Willard will pile up such a big score on points as to leave no room for dispute.

Moran is earnest and ambitious. He is as game as any man that ever followed the glove game for a livelihood. He is a hard hitter and is always trying hard, but he lacks the finish of a champion.

Willard is so big that Moran will not be able to reach the champion with any kind of a blow that would be effective. I don't think he can even shake up Jess.

I don't want to create the impression that I consider Willard a wonder, or an unbeatable champion, or anything of that sort. For I do not. Far from it. Every time I look over the crowd of present-day heavyweights, and compare them with the men who fought in that class in the old days, I have to turn away in disgust. They're a huge joke—the whole pack of them.

Willard is not a real champion nor a great fighter. He is merely the best of a bad lot. Any time you see a man above 6 feet 4 inches in height, he is not, and cannot, be a great fighter. If he happens to stand at the head of his class there's something radically wrong with the opposition. The other men in the division must be of uncommonly poor quality.

Did Willard beat Johnson? I, for one, am far from being convinced that he did. Nothing can alter my belief that the affair in Havana last April was pre-arranged and that Johnson laid down to the white man.

There's nothing else in Willard's record to distinguish him from the ranked novice. He has been defeated by Tom McMahon, and I honestly believe that, in spite of my forty-seven years, I could jump in there and beat McMahon myself in four or five rounds.

I cannot see any great class in either Willard or Moran, but, of the two, Willard is the better, and is so big, besides, that I believe he is certain to beat Moran.

Size and weight do not always win fights, for I have defeated men weighing 240 pounds, while I never weighed more than 167. Against a fighter like Moran, Willard's size will help him to win. In a longer bout Moran's chances would be even poorer.

McAuliffe Opposes Training in Public

By JACK McAULIFFE,

Retired and Undefeated Lightweight Champion of the World.

NEW YORK, March 9.—For nearly an hour I watched Jess Willard go through his training yesterday afternoon at the Pioneer Club.

The last time I saw the Pottawatomie in the ring was when he fought Carl Morris at the Garden. The improvement of Willard over that affair is simply marvellous.

While Willard was boxing and performing the other stunts on his program it struck me forcibly that he was making a vital mistake in doing his work in public. I trained for many fights and know positively that it is impossible to concentrate your mind on your work while a large crowd is looking on.

Training is just the opposite of an exhibition. The only way a man can do himself full justice is to study everything appertaining to boxing—and it can't be done before a large audience.

While Willard appeared to be devoting all his energies and concentrating his mind on his work, I don't think he left the people who did know about boxing. In several spots I noticed particularly how he shot his right over like a flash of lightning and then suddenly would let it miss and shoot over aimlessly.

IS SLOW ON RECOVERY.

The champion may be fooling, but I believe it would be better for him to stick to a steady practice of whanging the right over properly at every opportunity. By doing this it becomes an instinct; and when one is in action, the hand will move the correct way of its own accord.

One essential which Willard seems to lack is in recovering quickly. He would lead, snap over a wallop, but could not get back fast enough to suit me. This is absolutely necessary in boxing, for it gives your adversary a grand chance to get in telling work before you are back where you belong.

On several occasions Willard surprised me by his agile footwork, something remarkable for a big man.

As to his condition, Willard knows best how he feels. He appears to be in nice shape, and says he is. Seing as well as he desires. He has over two weeks more to get down to real form, and in that time one can work wonders.

There is one point about fighting—and that is, condition always will conquer gameness. No matter how brave a man may be, he never will overcome a rival who is trained to the minute. And this goes for this bout, too.

JESS A "MADE" BOXER.

Willard is no real boxer, and makes no claim of being one. He is what you call a "made" boxer, but that is no real handicap in a ten-round bout, for a well developed "made" boxer is liable to trim a born boxer over that short distance.

The coming bout will not be a clash between boxers, for nobody claims that Moran is a scientific fighter. The struggle will be between two strong men, and condition is going to be the determining factor.

Willard is one of the best proportioned men I ever looked at. Stripped, he convinces you that he possesses superhuman strength. His legs are about the best I ever saw on a fighter. They are built along lines that can carry him along for an unlimited period. There is no waste on any part of his frame. And he's not carrying that surplus flesh you hear so much about.

It appears to me that Willard's hands work too fast for his brain. He would whizz a glove through the air and smash his opponent, then he would hesitate for an instant, as if wondering what to do next. This can be overcome only by constant training in private.

SPAR BEFORE A MIRROR.

In the old days every fighter would spar before the mirror. The long rounds they would watch every move and consequently see just where they were weak. This method gave them the opportunity to build up the weak spots before entering the ring.

There is one thing about boxing that a fighter can't do, and that is to fake how his rival is going to fight him. That's the reason a man should pay particular attention to his own faults—he must study his punch carefully, to make sure it can go over, and not bother about the other fellow's ideas.

No fight was ever conducted along set rules. That's the reason I feel that Willard would do himself more good if he trained in private. He can do so on the next 3 days, and won't have to worry as to how it strikes the spectators.

DUNDEE DRAWS WITH LEONARD

New York, March 9.—Lightweights Johnny Dundee and Benny Leonard fought one of the fastest ten-round draws at Madison Square Garden last night ever seen here.

Up to the last round Leonard had a shade, but in the final period Dundee, like a tiger, slammed Benny around, setting him down with a left hook and made everything even.

Lumbago.

Don't suffer another hour. Send some one to your nearest drug store for Minard's liniment and rub lumbago from your poor aching back.

This delightful creamy liniment has brought wonderful relief to thousands of lumbago sufferers, because it reaches the spot quickly and drives away pain misery. It is an absolutely pure creamy liniment, stainless and very effective. Is economical and its success is positive.—Advertisement.

Heard at the Auto Show

She—Let's stop right here, there is no need of our looking any further. This car is my choice.

He—We settled that question last Monday. I have been trolling you around the hall looking over other cars just to prove that the Peerless is the best car and the greatest value in the show. I am going to place my order tomorrow.

New York, Thursday, March 9.

THOUGH the snowflakes were falling rather heavily yesterday morning around 7 o'clock it didn't stop me from taking a long jaunt through Central Park. While Monahan, Hemple and myself were struggling over the white covered roads it struck me that this was the original date for the bout between Moran and myself.

Then I swore softly at the neuralgia that prevented me from training earlier. When I realize what good shape I'm in now I feel sore that the first date selected was not lived up to. My condition now is good enough to permit me to enter the ring tomorrow.

The plodding gave me a corking workout and when I came back to the hotel I felt immense. After we finished breakfast there was nothing to do until the afternoon, so all the members of the camp dropped into Tom Jones' room and kept the invalid company.

Manager Jones Is on the Sick List.

Thomas neglected to wear his rubbers when out Tuesday and got his feet wet. Consequently, he had to take to the bed when he got back to the hotel and will stick to the hay for a day or two.

In my boxing in the afternoon I hope the spectators saw that my sparring partners were rougher than usual. Hemple kept hopping at me trying to sneak one over and kept me moving around rapidly. Then when George Rodel took up the work the Boer came out with the determination to make me step around.

Rodel swung and swung hard, almost with the energy he displayed when we fought at Hartford, Ct., and Atlanta, Ga. Though I stuck my left into Rodel's face many times, and whipped the right to his body, he kept "digging" in.

Monahan seemed to be impressed by Rodel's aggressiveness, for when he started to slug he didn't pull any of his punches. Walter was not going to let the Boer outshine him, judging from the way he tore in. Walter paid particular attention to my body, for I believe that Moran has a fondness for body punching.

After the boxing came body exercising. This is one of the best methods ever devised to develop your abdominal muscles and take off unnecessary flesh.

Jess Not Fat; Has Simply Filled Out.

Talking with a few friends in the dressing room the subject of my being overweight was brought up. A glance at me stripped convinced them that I am not fat. Within the past year I have grown considerably as far as my shoulders and arms are concerned.

Most people remember me as a beanstalk and forget that I have filled out. I remember when my arms were like two pipestems, while now they are well developed with My improvement I credit to boxing. It makes no difference whether you box with four or ten-ounce gloves, you derive wonderful benefit from the exercise.

When we left the clubhouse everyone was anxious to look some food square in the eye. You can imagine we did full justice to dinner. The day was one of the best I put in since I started to get ready for my bout with Moran.

BRITTON-BRENNAN GO.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 9.—Jack Britton and K. O. Brennan clash in a ten-round bout here tonight. Brennan will have fully a ten-pound pull in the weights.

Harvard Elects at Once Harte May Lead Team

WITH the return of "Dick" Harte, who is in the South, Manager Norman E. Burbridge will call together the twenty-one Harvard men who played against Yale last Fall to elect a new leader to succeed "Joey" Gilman, who, with "Billy" Boles and "Tom" Enwright, back field stars, has been dropped from college because of scholastic difficulties.

Harte, who played a slashing game at end last season, "Hal" Dadman, the big guard, and "Charley" Coolidge, sub end, are the candidates who will receive votes for the captaincy, with Harte likely to be elected.

The blonde Philadelphian was a star in his freshman year but quit the game the following season because of parental objections. Last Fall, however, he played a steady game.

MADE FIRST SCORE.

One drawback to Harte's holding down the position is the nervous strain. It was feared that he would suffer a breakdown during the game with Yale last November, but stuck through the contest until a sub replaced him. It was Harte who scooped up the ball when "Bob" Dingman of Yale fumbled it after a kick-off and scored Harvard's first touchdown, the score that started the Yale rout.

Harte is the varsity baseball catcher and is in line for the leadership of the nine. If he is elected to captain the eleven, George Abbot, second baseman, is most likely to receive the baseball election.

Coolidge was a sub end, whom injury prevented from making a harder fight for a regular position. He is a Phi Beta Kappa man and played against Yale two seasons running. Dadman was varsity guard and transferred to Harvard from Tufts. Last year was his first season of football at Cambridge and he was ranked with the leading guards of the country.

GILMAN SURPRISED.

Undergraduates visited the dean's office on Monday to ascertain if there was any way that the dismissal of Gilman, one of the students, who have just been dropped, could be temporarily postponed so that he could make up his deficiencies later in the year.

Dean Hurlburt explained the case fully to his visitors, who themselves admitted that under the circumstances the student, unfortunately, had only himself to blame.

Sympathy for the dropped men is strong among the undergraduates and there were fine types and not the victims of a system which led Harvard football players to believe that they were exempt from drastic college regulations.

Nobody is more surprised man at Harvard existed than Captain Gilman when he heard the distressing news. The Hawaiian was already preparing for the Spring practice of the football team.

Ex-Captain "Eddie" Mahan, who, is finishing his final year at Harvard, will continue on probation, but Manager Russell R. Stiles of the varsity baseball team declares that Mahan, right and right and will be on the mound when the season opens next month.

BRICKLEY TO COACH HARVARD

Former Captain May Return as a Paid Aid for the Crimson Football Team.

CHARLES E. BRICKLEY, Harvard's 1914 football captain, may again become a prominent figure in Harvard's gridiron doings.

Harvard, it is understood, stands ready to make the great drop-kicking star an offer to coach on Soldiers Field next Fall, and Brickley is in a position to accept the same if terms are satisfactory.

The Everett boy made a big hit at Johns Hopkins, where he coached last season, and returned to Baltimore late in the Fall, where he signed an agreement to renew his contract provided that the Harvard football team did not need his services.

The summary dismissal of Gilman, Boles and Enright has caused great consternation at Cambridge and stronger efforts are being made to get Coach Haughton to renew his contract.

The Braves' president will probably agree to act as head advisory coach, taking charge when the National League season has closed.

Before Haughton's arrival Ted Leary, the end coach, will probably have charge of the development of the team, with Coach Regis Brown, the strategist coach, sharing a large share of his football burdens.

RING RESULTS

Providence, March 9.—"Wild Bill" Fleming of Oldtown, Me., knocked out "Battling" McFarland in the eighth round at the Rhode Island Auditorium tonight. South Boston, substituted "Chick" Hayes, New York, in eight rounds in the semi-windup.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 9.—"Battling" Miner of Memphis and "Young" McHenry of Lima, O., bested eight rounds to a draw.

JAMES IS HIGH IN FLESH

As for Bill's Whip, Stallings Sure It Will Be O. K.—Rain Knocks Out Practice Matinee.

By JOHN W. MORAN, JR.

MIAMI, Fla., March 9.—This afternoon, weather permitting, the Braves will play their first full nine-inning game of the season. Likewise today the club will have its first opportunity to feel the pulse of the people here on the subject of baseball.

Business Manager Hapgood intends asking each person who enters the park to pay twenty-five cents for the privilege of watching the game. Morning practice will continue free of charge as heretofore.

This morning the boys engaged in batting and fielding practice, with a run around the field included for the heavier members on the squad. Included among the latter, who took a long turn of the field, were Connolly, Maggee, Blackburn, the young catcher, and "Bill" James.

MUST BE DRESSED BY NINE.

Manager Stallings has ordered every member of the squad to be in uniform each morning at 9 o'clock. Work will terminate at noon. Afternoon practice starts promptly at 2:15 and ends when the last man is out in the ninth inning of the matinee.

Yesterday rain robbed the team of its second practice game, though the boys managed to get in a good forenoon workout. As usual, batting and fielding practice was indulged in, together with plenty of pitching practice. Gowdy, Tragresser, Blackburn and Rico caught the hurlers and gave them plenty to do.

As yet James hasn't reached his best point of pace and it is likely to take him some time to do so. Stallings has ordered him to proceed slowly. The big boy from the Coast appears to be right, except for the fact that he has some flesh to take off. This is expected to go by degrees and Stallings seems hopeful "Bill" will be right for the start of the championship season.

EVERS ADDRESSES K. OF C.

Stallings has completed arrangements with R. O. Clifford, manager of the Fort Lauderdale team, for a game here next week. Clifford formerly pitched in the New York State League and all his players comprise the organizations of that class. The arranging of this contest calls for six exhibition games during the stay of the Braves in Miami.

Caldwell Hangs Up New Record in 600-Yard

Newark, N. J., March 8.—Dave Caldwell, Boston A. A., hung up a new world's record for the 600 at the Central High School games. First Regiment Armory, when he covered the distance in 1m. 13 1-5s., three-fifths of a second under Ted Meredith's old mark.

Meredith was second by inches in fast night's great race, Frank Lagan, Dartmouth, won the 500-yard run; Roy Morse, Salem-Crescent, landed the 70-yard dash, and Mike Devaney, Millrose A. A., took the mile run.

JUST AN EARFUL

By Tad

Jack Britton was boxing Ted (Kid) Lewis in Brooklyn the other night and Jack's left was in Ted's contreboard so often that said beak was quite sore and red, much to the delight of the great mob present. The way Britton peppered Ted's horn was a shame. It got to be monotonous later on and drew forth great bales of laughter from the crowd.

Along about the seventh round Jack was still going strong, and the thin guy next to the fat man in the third row started counting the jabs just for a kid.

Jack jabbed four in a row, and the thin guy counted them aloud as they landed. Then a few more jumped in and finally the whole gang at the ringside joined when the ninth jab landed. Then they went on ALL TOGETHER, TEN!! Jack landed again. ELEVEN, TWELVE they howled, THIRTEEN.

Then the fat guy let out a squawk and yelled, "Bank the last one, Jack, old boy, BANK IT."

Meanix, Barwise and O'Hara Are Picked to Go

"Bill" Meanix and Harry Barwise, B. A. A., and Francis O'Hara, Tech, are the three men selected by the N. E. A. A. A. U. to keep the championship winners company at the National indoor championships, in New York, March 18.

It is reported that Joe Higgins, Holy Cross, will be unable to compete. Should he be forced to withdraw another man will be named. The New England squad:

40-yard dash—Kelly, Holy Cross; O'Hara, Tech; Hamm, B. A. A.; Meanix, B. A. A.

40-yard run—Higgins, Holy Cross; Caldwell, B. A. A.

300-yard run—Kelly, Holy Cross; O'Hara, Tech; Hamm, B. A. A.; Meanix, B. A. A.

300-yard run—Higgins, Holy Cross; Caldwell, B. A. A.

600-yard run—Caldwell, B. A. A.

Two mile run—Collier, B. A. A.

Running high jump—Pelletier, St. John's Prep; Barwise, B. A. A.

Shot-put—Lawler, unattached.

POTTER TAKES OLD SEAT WITH VARSITY

H. S. Middendorf, '16, and A. Potter, '17, resumed their places in Harvard's racing shells yesterday, thus leaving H. A. Quimby, '18, the fifth member of the hospital crew. Potter returned to his old place at bow in Boat A, while Middendorf was placed at No. 6 in Boat B. The freshmen are showing good form indoors. Order of the first two varsity boats:

Boat A—Lund, stroke; Cabot, 7; Morgan, 6; Stebbins, 5; Parsons, 4; Farrell, 3; Bush, 2; Potter, bow.

Boat B—White, stroke; Richardson, 7; H. S. Middendorf, 6; J. W. Middendorf, 5; Yolman, 4; Soley, 3; Taylor, 2; Brauer, bow.

REPORT HAL CHASE GOING TO GIANTS

Chicago, March 8.—A rumor persists here that Hal Chase will play first base for the New York Giants. The ex-Federal leaguer is the last of the stars of that organization to land with organized baseball. Chase is due in the East today or tomorrow to settle his baseball status.

BLACKLER STAR OF MEET

Cambridge Latin's mermen won from Medford High, 52-12. Captain Blackler of the winners won the 50 and 40-yard dashes and the 20-yard breast stroke.

BOXING BRIEFS and GOSSIP

EDDIE CAMPI is a tricky, resourceful bantamweight, not much of a hitter, but a particularly efficient and speedy boxer, and bids fair giving Al Shubert, the New Bedford heroat and New England's champion 112-115 pounder, a hot time of it in their twelve-round set-to at the B. M. A. A. tomorrow night.

CAMPI'S record is equally as classy as Shubert's. In fact the two have really pulled a heap more creditable stuff than Johnny Ertle, who was nosed into the championship when "Kid" Williams fouled the St. Paul midget in their battle in Ertle's home town last September.

BOXING in Minnesota is conducted along the same lines it is run in New York State. Hence, to wander a little from the faintest, why in the name of Ned shouldn't the world-at-large accept Morgan as the heavyweight monarch if Frank should stop Willard in their forthcoming battle?

THE bantamweight title changed hands in a no-decision bout, or a foul. Why shouldn't the heavyweight crown switch in a no-decision contest, s says should be universal?

NOW to get back to Campi and Shubert. Campi is the best little fellow California has turned out in years. He gave Williams two great scraps at the time the "Kid" was in his prime. He also holds a twenty-round victory over Frankie Burns, and has stepped to advantage with Louisiana, Frankie Conley and Yale Herman among other stars.

AS for Shubert, he has lost but one decision in some seventy or eighty starts. Herman was the author of the win, gaining it at the end of a sparkling twenty-round bout down at New Orleans.

"BAD BOY" DOUGLAS CHASED TO ST. PAUL

Tampa, Fla., March 8.—Phil Douglas, the Cub pitcher who was indefinitely suspended Tuesday by Manager Tinker, was today sold to the St. Paul (American Association) Club. Douglas was sold under an optional agreement, which gives the Cubs the right to recall him.

E. H. SELECTS BIDDELL.

Coleen Biddell will command the 1917 English High swimming team.

COOKE LEADS GRAPPLERS

Richard C. Cooke of Newton Centre has been elected captain of the Harvard varsity wrestling team for next season. He is twenty-one years old, entered the 1915 soccer eleven, and prepared for Harvard at Andover.

CHARLEY SMITH PLACED.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 8.—Charles Smith, veteran right-hander of the Chicago Cubs and an ex-American League star, and Wilson Collins, former boston Brave outfielder, have been secured by the local club.

GREEN PILOT DOES NOT GET INSIGNIA

Hanover, N. H., March 8.—Harry Marchie, ice captain of the Green's hockey septet, failed to gain his letter as being the first time in many years a varsity captain was not awarded the insignia. Captain-elect Tyler, Gale, Haycroft, Holmes and Morse are the only letter men. Basketball insignia were awarded Bertsch, Williams, Marble, Sherrod, Pelletier, Eckerlin, Sisson and Rau.

Sequin & Co. Give Harvard Club Usual Slam

Exactly as was expected, the Arena seven made it three straight over Harvard Club in their Boston Hockey League combat at the Arena last night. Evidently the fans knew what was coming, as the crowd was one of the few small ones of the season.

Sequin, Roach & Co., were in their usual good form and went over by the lofty score of 7-3. "Patsy" shot four of the Arena's goals; Roach tallied two, while Conley got the remaining counter. "Buh" Phillips, easily the best man on the ice for the Crimson, had the distinction of registering all three goals for his side.

BOWLING

WHO is the sure-enough, hope-to-die bowling champion of New England?

Chester Martel of Lowell says he is.

Paul Poehler of Revere claims the title.

Bill Beatty declares that neither Martel nor Poehler has any right to the championship, but that it justly belongs to Archie Walsh, East Boston's diminutive pin topper.

Next!

The "jam" started soon after the Martel-Walsh match, which Martel won. Right away "Chet" laid claim to the championship because he defeated Walsh. Nobody disputed his claim until somebody told him that Poehler was seeking a match.

Then "Chet" let out a squawk. He was quoted as saying Poehler would have to defeat Walsh before he would consider a meeting with the Dutchman.

That got Poehler going. He declared that Martel's claim to the title was a joke and further stated that when Martel bowled Walsh he did not bowl for the championship, as he (Poehler) had previously defeated Walsh in Quincy.

* * *

IN an effort to find a solution to the puzzle the AMERICAN phoned Bill Beatty.

Bill said that neither Poehler nor Martel is the champion; that Walsh is in first place.

"Well, didn't both Poehler and Martel defeat Walsh after he won the championship," Bill was asked.

"That is true," replied Bill, "but neither match was a legitimate championship affair. They were exhibitions, and I knew, because I arranged them myself."

"Then you say Walsh is champion?"

"Yes," replied Bill.

So there you go.

As there is nobody to award this championship the three will go on claiming it forever unless the matter is thoroughly thrashed out. It would seem that the only way to settle it would be to bring the three together and let them have it out.

PAUL POEHLER will be a member of the Revere Elks' team, which goes to Washington in April to compete in the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association tournament. Poehler is not yet a member of the Revere Lodge, but has applied for a transfer from the Quincy order, and will shortly be admitted to peace membership. The other members of the Revere team will be "Red" Millar, Jack Kerrigan, P. Farrell and John Murphy. Quite a nifty aggregation.

Suggest a Demonstration —Then Watch the Hupmobile

We should like nothing better than to put our car "over the hurdles" for your benefit.

Come to our salesroom, 574 Commonwealth Ave. (if you'll call at our space at the Auto Show we'll drive you over), tell us what you want the car to do, then climb in, and we'll do it.

We'll compete with any car you have in mind—let our competitor name the "stunt," for that matter—and we will leave the decision to you.

Remember, we have touring cars, roadsters and enclosed types of 119 to 134-inch wheelbase—five and seven passenger—big cars, all of them.

They are big enough to suit any purpose—as good looking as the best—fully equipped—economical to maintain—with a country-wide reputation for sturdiness—and the price is $1085.

Your decision, then, should rest on performance. All we want is an opportunity to prove every claim we make for the Hupmobile.

Their Married Life

Helen and Warren, While Awaiting Guests, Have a Spirited Argument About Books

Copyright, 1916, by International News Service.

"YOURE going to the lodge this evening, aren't you, dear?" said Helen as they left the table.

"Oh, no," said Warren, turning suddenly. "Bob and I aren't going tonight. I forgot to tell you. The folks said they might come up and play a little bridge."

"Really, dear! You should have told me before. We haven't a thing in the house to eat."

"That's right; we do have to give them something, don't we? Well, can't you make a few sandwiches?"

"Yes, dear, but we haven't any cream for coffee. And I ought to give them something hot. You know Louise always serves such delicious things when we go up there."

"Can we have beer?"

"We could; but what about something hot to eat?"

"I suppose Mary could go out and get something."

"Oh, I have a splendid idea, Warren. We might cream some of those oysters you brought home."

Warren occasionally brought home little things that he fancied at the particular moment. Sometimes Helen had Mary fix them immediately, but they had arranged to have the oysters which a friend had brought Warren the following evening.

A CONTRETEMPS

"I thought we were going to have a stew with those oysters."

"We were, but in an emergency like this, dear, I thought you might be willing to help. You see it really was your fault that I didn't know before about tonight. And I have promised to let Mary go to a dance."

"That's right," said Warren, on the defensive immediately, "give your maids too much leeway and you never have any good out of them."

PARTY WHIP ON BIG REVENUE MEASURE

By the International News Service.

Washington, March 9.—The administration revenue program to provide an additional $200,000,000 annual income for the government, is to be included in a single gigantic bill and rushed through Congress under party whip and spur.

Conferences of Democratic Congressional leaders have determined on a tentative plan for disposing of the government's financial difficulties at one fell swoop. A preliminary survey of proposed appropriations has convinced the leaders that it will be necessary to raise about $200,000,000 rather than the $112,000,000 additional asked for by the President early in the session.

Last year's total appropriations were $1,114,357,012.92.

"After conferring with members of the Ways and Means Committee," said Chairman Claude Kitchin of the committee today, "I believe the best way of disposing of the revenue matter is to include all proposed matters affecting revenue of the tariff in a single measure."

The provisions which the leaders now plan to embody in the revenue bill include:

The creation of a tariff commission, as suggested by the President.

Tariff legislation protecting the new coal tar dye industry, and an "anti-dumping" clause, now being prepared by administration experts.

An increase in the income tax, amounting to about double the present rates, without affecting the present minimum exemptions.

A tax on the profits of munition manufacturers.

The repeal of practically all the objectionable stamp taxes now included in the war revenue tax.

MONROE A PLEASURE OR BUSINESS CAR

One of the cars that is attracting much attention at the show is the Monroe car. It is located in the balcony, and as about all the visitors go up there, they have had a chance to inspect the car closely. It has interested a great many dealers throughout New England.

The agency distribution for New England has been taken by the New England Whip Company of Westfield, and H. A. Cowles is now sales manager in charge of placing agencies. During the week he has made contracts with a number of men to handle it in various places.

The Monroe has ample financial backing, and it is built along the lines of a machine that can fit in for either a pleasure or business car. It makes an ideal car for salesmen and men in similar positions, or for professional men.

AGENTS MEET DODGE BROTHERS' MANAGER

New England agents of Dodge Brothers had the pleasure yesterday noon of meeting General Manager George C. Hubbs of Dodge Brothers, at a luncheon at the Copley-Plaza. The luncheon was arranged by Charles S. Henshaw of the Henshaw Motor Company, and by District Manager Daly. The hosts and the guests discussed the New England automobile situation, and dealers were thanked for their efforts in helping to place the Dodge Brothers products among the five leading cars of the country. No car has grown into such prominence in so short a space of time as has the Dodge Brothers' car, it was declared. The popularity of the car is attested by the large number to be seen on the roads of New England, and is further indicated by the fact that the dealers present increased their orders, it was stated.

METZ ROADSTERS POPULAR MACHINES

The Metz Roadster is proving as popular at this show as at previous Boston exhibits and in spite of its low price, is known throughout the country as a standard car in every respect. All Metz cars are equipped with pressure drive. There are no gears to strip and no clutch to slip. The Metz transmission is tight and strong, noiseless and economical. It develops great efficiency in transmitting power, is easy on tires and engine and because of being a very flexible drive, it does not start the car with a jerk, and at the same time it provides seven different speeds. It makes the running of the car so simple that a woman can run it with absolute safety. The price of the Metz covers everything necessary to operate the car. There are no extras.

GREAT INTEREST IN NEW MACK TRUCK

The new Mack is attracting great attention owing to its many new and radical features of truck design. The machine has the appearance of power and strength and yet its weight is light compared with trucks in general. Among the many new features are the radiator in the dash with belt-driven blower-fan, tubular radiator made without the use of solder at any of its joints, sloping front hood that can be easily raised to get at all the working parts of the motor, sharp-angle steering column and wheel with all joints adjustable for wear, sliding fore doors to protect the driver from bad weather, multiple clutch and double chain-drive.

GENERAL VEHICLE LINE ATTRACTIVE

The General Vehicle line is attracting much attention and the salesmen have a good talking principle in battery service system. Boiled down the proposition is this:

The customer buys his electric wagon or truck without batteries. That saves him about 20 per cent. to 25 per cent. on his original investment. The lighting company owns and keeps ready for service a sufficient number of batteries to keep all the cars running all the time. When a battery is about exhausted the customer brings his car to the garage for a "battery exchange" and in three minutes is on the street again with a fresh battery.

Stocks Strong at Noon in Boston and New York. Zincs Had Sold at Record High Prices. Trading Sentiment Was More Bullish

BANKS NOW HAVE HIGH RECORD DEPOSITS, SAYS BOERSIANER

By BOERSIANER.

According to Secretary Wilson there are today on American farms 258,000,000 more bushels of corn than a year ago, 220,000,000 more oats, 89,000,000 wheat, 18,000,000 barley—an increase in total of 555,000,000 bushels grain.

The National City Bank of New York, announces that it has deposits of $.53,000,000. This high record is typical of bank records throughout the country. Louisville and Nashville's earnings for February showed a net increase of $1,008,353 and this statement typifies what the run of roads are doing.

Electric Boat Company directors in addition to the 3 per cent. "regular" declared an extra dividend of 1 per cent. and this is an example of what other companies are yielding or can yield.

The Iron Age says that consumers dependent on Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania mills cannot get these to enter their orders for the second half of the year, so crowded are the books with business. The — but it were futile from the Bourse standpoint to continue what would be an endless enumeration of genuine and basically important optimisms

The Bourse, at present, has no eye for them. At the moment it cannot see beyond Washington. Diplomatic notes are the all in all of the stock market.

There is a world, however, other than the second and third rate factors who currently control the peanut session on 'change. And this world at noon sat in fat the latest and definitive frenzy for the purpose it possessed will finish what it cannot, operations and make the exchange a fair reflex of what the country is doing.

BROKE HIMSELF OF SMOKING CIGARETTES

A St. Louis Man Broke Himself of Smoking Cigarettes and Chewing by a Simple Home Remedy.

Harry Risks, a well known resident living at 1421 S. 14th St., St. Louis, Mo., broke himself of the cigarette habit and chewing with a simple recipe that he mixed at home. In reply to the question as to what he used he made the following statement: "I used a simple recipe which I mixed at home and which is as follows: To 5 oz. of Water add 20 grains of Muriate of Ammonia, a small box of Varlex Compound and 1½ grs. of Pepsin. I took a teaspoonful three times a day. Any druggist can mix it for you at very little cost.

"This recipe can be taken yourself or given secretly to another in coffee, tea or milk or in food, as it has no taste, color or smell and is perfectly harmless."

STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were strong at noon both in Boston and New York. The only morning reaction was during the first hour and it was of little consequence. The increased supply of stocks was quickly absorbed. After this recessional the price trend was upward. All classes of stocks had support. Business was of fair volume and professional in character.

Gains at 12 o'clock in New York included Anaconda ⅝, Chino 1, Utah Copper ⅝, Greene-Cananea 2⅝, American Zinc 2⅜, American Can ⅝, Car and Foundry ⅛, Crucible ⅝, Mexican Petroleum 2⅛, U. S. Steel ⅛, Colorado Fuel 2, Crucible ⅝, Mexican 1¼, Studebaker ⅛, Willys-Overland 1⅛, Westinghouse ⅞, Lackawanna Steel 2⅝, Marine preferred certificates 1⅜, Northern Pacific ⅜, Southern Pacific ⅛, N. Y. Central ⅛, Lehigh Valley ⅛, Chesapeake & Ohio 1, Canadian Pacific ⅝, and Erie ⅛. Among declines were American Locomotive ⅛, Alaska Gold ⅛, New Haven ⅝, Reading ⅜ and Goodrich ⅝. Butte & Superior was unchanged at 102⅝.

Gains in Boston included American Zinc 2⅜, Alouez ⅝, Calumet & Arizona ⅞, Copper Range ⅜, Greene-Cananea 3⅜, North Butte ⅛, Old Dominion ⅛, Shattuck Arizona ⅛, Smelting 1, United Fruit ⅛, Utah Gulf common 1¼ and preferred ⅝.

Trading and sales are to the effect that there were only 57,000 tons of refined sugar in the United Kingdom five weeks ago, a number big for buying movement in this country by the refiners is believed to be imminent.

New York exports for the week ended Saturday last totalled $57,564,-000, comparing with $71,734,849 for the week before and $55,478,997 for the corresponding week in 1914. War munitions were the largest item, in refined explosives, and totalled $11,418,241.

MOTOR NOTES

That the Kelly worm driven model made a decided impression with the public of New England and Maine is evidenced by the number of orders which have been taken by F. E. Aitman, manager of the local Kelly Motor Truck branch and service station on Nos. 1 and 2 Commonwealth ave. since the automobile show opened Saturday.

"Freedom from this embarrassing annoyance can be yours, simply by investing in a 'Benn' Engine-Driven Tire Pump, built especially for Ford cars, and guaranteed mechanically perfect," says John D. Sullivan, local agent. "It is very easily installed—just take the old fan-pulley off your crank shaft and slip on the combined fan-pulley and driving gear which we furnish with every 'Benn' Pump. Then bolt the pump to the crank case—no drilling or machine work needed—and tire troubles have lost their terrors for you."

Among the attractions along Automobile Row is the display of the Dixie Magneto shown in the wonderful window arrangement at the Splitdorf Electrical Company of Boston. The 1112 Boylston street. R. M. Ellis, Boston branch manager of the Splitdorf Electrical Company, states that the following pleasure cars are equipped with the Dixie Magneto. Overland, Metz, Pullman, Daimler using the four-cylinder magneto; Detroit, Hudson and Owen-Knight six-cylinder; Fiat, using the six-cylinder, and the Isotta, using the eight-cylinder.

TELLS MERITS OF OAKLAND MOTOR CAR

More than half a hundred New England dealers of the Oakland Motor Car Co. (Pontiac, Mich.) were "collected together" at the Hotel Lenox, under the direction of Leslie B. Sanders, the New England Distributing Agent. The meeting, which has been holding up automobile shipments from the West, were discussed at length by Mr. Sanders, who explained the various obstacles which the Oakland people have to overcome to meet their shipments. Thomas McInerney, Oakland factory, at Pontiac, Mich., was one of the speakers. He explained the conditions at the Pontiac factory, and stated that the Oakland slogan for March was "2,000 cars for this month." He told of the Oakland having risen to seventh place in the automobile industry of the United States, and of the rapid progress that this machine has made, and of the big orders placed ahead, which make the price increase impossible for the Oakland despite the rapid advance of iron and steel. Director Whittemore of the company and New England Treasurer Dunbar were also speakers.

MITCHELL DEALERS BANQUET GUESTS

The Mitchell dealers of New England were tendered a banquet at the Copley-Plaza Hotel yesterday afternoon by the Pope Hartford Company of Boston. The dealers thus had an opportunity of meeting the men behind the machine. Some of those present were Sales Manager Otis Freiend, J. W. Sargent, the man who designs and builds the "Six of '16"; George Hippie, the assistant general manager, and Guy Vaughn, the New York distributor, and Advertising Manager Jacobs. Talks were also made by the men from Racine, who told of the work being done to maintain the present high standing of the Mitchell car and who incidentally congratulated Manager Lucas upon the excellence of the Mitchell exhibit in Paul Revere Hall.

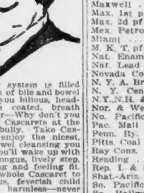
BUSINESS FINE, SAYS CHALMERS MANAGER

"Business conditions never looked more promising than this year," said Frank Allen, manager of the Chalmers Motor Company of New England. "More interest has been shown by visitors at the show than for many years past. The Chalmers booth at the show has been surrounded with people from all parts of New England throughout the day. Buying interest has been particularly keen since the first of the year, and from the start we have gotten, I am frank to say, the week will be exceptionally profitable from the standpoint of sales.

"February was exceptionally good for us from a standpoint of sales. The Chalmers Motor Company report the largest February and March sales in its history and we, as well as all Chalmers dealers throughout New England, have also enjoyed unprecedented business."

Spend 10 cents! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated.

Can't harm you! Best cathartic for men, women and children.



Enjoy life! Your system is filled with an accumulation of bile and this poison which keeps you bilious, headachy, dizzy, tongue coated, breath foul and stomach sour—Why don't you get a 10 cent box of Cascarets from any drug store and feel bully. Take Cascarets tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You'll wake up with a clear head, clean tongue, lively step, rosy skin and looking and feeling fine. Mothers can give Cascarets to a sick, cross, bilious, feverish child any time—they're harmless—never gripe or sicken—Advertisement.

VIM MOTOR TRUCK DEALERS BANQUET

A "get together" banquet of the Vim motor truck dealers with more than forty present, was held last night at the Hotel Westminster. General Sales Manager W. W. Light and Sales Manager Hall, of Philadelphia, was one of the speakers. He outlined plans for the New England campaign, the motor truck for the dealers, as did S. C. White, Jr., the Boston agent for the Vim.

The Way to Curb the Oil Trust's Greed

THE bill to lay an export tax of fifty cents a gallon on gasoline ought to be speedily enacted.

THIS IS THE ONLY POSSIBLE WAY TO CURB THE GREED OF THE OIL TRUST.

IT IS THE ONLY WAY TO COMPEL THIS MONOPOLY TO CEASE RAISING THE PRICE OF GASOLINE TO THE AMERICAN CONSUMER.

The Oil Trust has taken advantage of the military needs of Europe to sell huge quantities of gasoline abroad at excessively high prices.

This might be overlooked on several grounds if the Oil Trust had been content to make the price of gasoline high only to European governments.

But this cormorant corporation has not been satisfied with unheard-of profits earned from Europe's necessities.

As soon as it raises the export price of gasoline for European military use it raises correspondingly the price to American users of gasoline.

A handful of men are selling one of the country's prime necessities, without the slightest regard for their own country's welfare, and in addition they are bleeding their own countrymen out of millions and tens of millions of dollars while the bleeding is good.

Now, the only way to bring these monopolists to their senses is to put an end to their excessive European profits until they decide to be decent at home.

A tax of fifty cents a gallon on the gasoline they export will FORCE them to lower their actual prices to Europe, since the European customers cannot and will not stand a high price, plus the tax.

And the price they sell at in Europe will be the price in the United States, minus the fifty cents export tax.

The revenue derived by the government from this war tax would go a long way to make up our losses from the war in other directions—a long, long way toward increasing the army and navy for our defence.

These are general reasons. Specifically, this war tax on EXPORT GASOLINE will inevitably put an end to the unreasonable and almost treasonable increase in the price of a fuel upon which the business of thousands of you citizens depends.

All who use gasoline engines, trucks, motor cars and other gasoline-driven machinery in the processes of manufacturing and merchandizing and farming and distributing will be released from the strangle-hold which the Standard Oil Company and its subsidiary corporations have taken upon the throat of industry and production.

The effects of enacting this war tax upon export gasoline will be two:

1. The warring European powers will have to pay more for gasoline.

2. The American consumer will have to pay less for gasoline.

If the warring European countries continue to take the same quantities, the amount of money flowing into America will be hugely increased, and instead of the Oil Trust getting all the money, the government of the United States will get the bulk of it.

If the European countries decrease their war consumption there will be less gasoline going out of the country and more available for home use. And at the higher EXPORT price there will be as much money coming into America as there is now, even with a much less quantity of gasoline going out.

To permit this enormous export and waste of our oil reserves now going on, without getting more revenue from abroad and relief for the American consumer, is a crime against good sense.

And more particularly is it a crime against good sense to waste our oil reserves and tax American consumers outrageous prices for a public necessity for the sole profit of a handful of multi-millionnaires, already far too rich for the public good and the public safety.

Congress ought to pass the Britten bill as soon as it can be done.

Supreme Court Justices and Law Cases

THE New York Anti-Saloon League sent the chairman of its legislative committee to Washington on Monday to oppose the confirmation of Louis D. Brandeis, because Mr. Brandeis appeared as counsel for the New England Brewers' Association in a law suit in 1891.

Most men will agree that brewing beer is not a worse crime than committing murder.

Yet we are quite certain that many justices have adorned the Supreme Bench who in earlier years took retainers from and appeared as counsel for murderers.

We trust that the officials of the Anti-Saloon League will see the point without the accompaniment of a diagram.

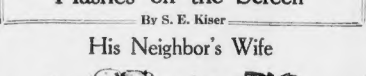
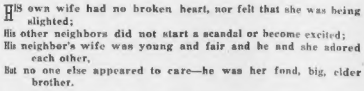
His Neighbor's Wife



His neighbor's wife was young and fair; they saw each other almost daily;
The graces she possessed were rare; they smiled upon each other gayly;
He called her by her first name, too, dispensing with the formal "Mrs."
Had you been there to watch them, you would know she never spurned his kisses.

His neighbor's fair young wife and he were frequently alone together;
It made him glad to be her shield against inclement weather;
He never caused her sorrow, nor neglected to be kind and tender;
He liked to plan new pleasures for his neighbor's wife, so young and slender.

His own wife had no broken heart, nor felt that she was being slighted;
His other neighbors did not start a scandal or become excited;
His neighbor's wife was young and fair and he and she adored each other,
But no one else appeared to care—he was her fond, big, elder brother.



A Foolish Mistake

"What's that collection of pictures you have, old man?"

"This is a collection of portraits of women who have distinguished themselves as painters, essayists and so on."

"Gee! I thought it was a collection that some patent medicine concern had made, showing its female customers 'before taking.'"

No Cause for Doubt

"So you think he actually believes his wife is his superior?"

"Certainly. She admits it."

Easy

"Losing his temper for a moment, he told her she didn't have brains enough to fill a thimble."

"I can't understand how he ever persuaded her to forgive him."

"Oh, he made it all right a moment later by referring to the smallness of her feet."

Vain Versatility

It may be all right to be all things to all men, but some of our most prominent citizens seem to be making poor headway in their efforts to be all things at one time.

The Cause of Typhus Fever

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

PART TWO

THE habit which most greatly discourages the parasitic typhus pest is that of wearing white or light colored shirts and underwear, which show the dirt readily and have to be frequently changed.

The chief merit of the old brown, or blue, or gray shirts and underwear was that they didn't show dirt and didn't need to be changed too often. Incidentally, also, the diminishing use of wool for underwear and shirtings has helped in exterminating vermin, because woolen fabrics furnish better cover for the game, are more difficult to clean and it is not considered advisable to boil them very frequently for fear of causing shrinkage.

If we had needed any proof of the close connection between the two-clean-shirts-a-week and bath-on-Saturday-night habit, and freedom from vermin and typhus, the acute breakdown of civilization across the Atlantic has supplied it at once.

One of the first steps of that relapse into barbarism, called war, is the breaking up or serious interference with all habits of personal cleanliness.

Their Chief Complaint

The thing that the soldiers in the trenches on both sides complain of most bitterly is not the shells, nor the bayonet attacks of the enemy, but, first, the mud, and, second, the swarms of vermin which infest them.

The reason is plain; trench fighting among other peculiarities means that the soldiers on the first line are compelled to stand and fire or crouch down and sleep day and night for five days, ten days, two and three weeks at a stretch, without a single opportunity of changing their clothing or getting a decent wash.

Even when they are laid off for their term in reserve, to sleep and wash and clean up; washing of their clothing is extremely difficult, because the display of it in drying will instantly catch the eye of hostile air scouts and draw a shower of shells.

The result is that all imaginable vermin riot through the trenches as they did in the Dark Ages.

The Logical Result

And as a natural, logical consequence, within three months of the declaration of war typhus had broken out furiously along the southern parts of the eastern front, raged all through Serbia and Austria and even made several outbreaks in the German camps.

Although, for the most part, the superb sanitary service of the medical corps of the northern armies, both Teuton and allies, has either prevented its appearance in their ranks or stamped it out promptly when it did appear.

In-Shoots

In some respects the screen hero has a discouraging time. He can never behold the adoring glances of the matinee girls in the front row.

After the groom's stock of funny stories has been exhausted the honeymoon begins to wane.

The trouble with the idle rich seems to be the fact that it is difficult for us to "touch" many of them.

Every married woman is pleased with the popularity of her husband—if he is not too popular with the other ladies.

It is better for the passenger of the water wagon to refrain from taking soft drinks in the places where hard drinks are sold.

It is all right for a man to resign from a $10,000 job. But if he is getting $2 a day he had better stick.

Why We Have Winter When the Earth Is Nearest the Sun

It Is Due to Circumstances That Will Not Endure Indefinitely, and There Is a Glacial Experience in Store for Our Descendants That We Should Be Thankful to Have Escaped

By Garrett P. Serviss

"PLEASE explain why the earth is nearer the sun in Winter than in Summer.—H. H."

The earth is nearer the sun in Winter than in Summer, in the northern hemisphere, but in the southern hemisphere the earth is farther from the sun in Winter than in Summer. The reason is two-fold. First, because the orbit of the earth in which it travels once a year around the sun is not a circle, but an ellipse, and, second, because the axis round which the earth rotates once every day is not upright, but is inclined in such a direction that when the earth is on one side of the sun the northern end (which we will call the upper end) leans toward the sun, and when it is on the opposite side the same end leans away from the sun.

It is Summer in either hemisphere when that hemisphere leans toward the sun, and Winter when it leans away. Now the sun is not situated in the centre of the elliptical orbit of the earth, but in one of the two foci, which every ellipse has. The focus occupied by the sun is about 1,500,000 miles from the centre.

It so happens that the northern end of the earth's axis leans toward the sun when the earth is in the part of the ellipse which is farthest from the focus and away from the sun when the earth is in the part of the ellipse which is nearest. Thus Summer, in the northern hemisphere, occurs when the earth is farthest from the sun and Winter when it is nearest. In the southern hemisphere exactly the opposite state of things exists.

Simple Illustration by Means of Rubber Ball, Needle and Piece of Wood

In order to illustrate this for yourself, take a rubber ball, or a ball of yarn, and pass a long needle directly through its centre. The ball will represent the earth, and the needle the earth's axis. Stick one end of the needle in a flat piece of wood which can be moved about on the surface of a table, and let the needle lean about one-quarter of the way from a perpendicular position. Then set up in the middle of the table some object, on a level with the ball, to represent the sun.

Slide the ball on its little platform around the sun in an elliptical, or oval path, whose longest diameter extends lengthwise of the table. Keep the sloping needle always parallel to the longer sides of the table. You will then perceive that the two hemispheres of the earthball (north and south, or upper and lower), alternately incline toward the sun. Now place the sun a little distance away from the centre of the elliptical path, but keep it on the line of the longest diameter of the ellipse, and you will find that the Winter of one of the hemispheres will occur when the ball is at its greatest distance and the Winter of the other hemisphere when the ball is at its least distance.

The difference between the greatest and least distances of the earth from the sun (which are called respectively aphelion and perihelion) is equal to twice the sun's distance from the centre of the ellipse. It amounts to about 3,000,000 miles, the average distance between the earth and the sun being 93,000,000 miles. This makes about 6 per cent. difference in the amount of heat received by the earth at the two extremes of its orbit.

The southern hemisphere has a hotter Summer than the northern because its Summer occurs in perihelion; but to compensate this, the southern Summer is a week shorter than the northern, since the earth travels faster in its orbit when it is nearest the sun. On the other hand the southern Winter, occurring in aphelion, when the earth not only travels slower but is farther from the sun, is both longer and colder than the northern Winter.

This is one of the reasons why the accumulation of everlasting ice around the South Pole is greater than around the North Pole. Still, the southern lands, except the Antarctic continent, do not suffer more than the northern from the severities of Winter because of another compensating circumstance, which is that there are much greater expanses of ocean in the southern half of the world, and they have the effect of moderating extremes of heat and cold.

Apparently Careful Adjustment of Conditions Found to Be Only Temporary

All these things look like a very careful adjustment of conditions for the benefit of the earth's inhabitants, but the adjustment is only temporary, or periodic, on account of the fact that the direction in which the earth's axis points is slowly changing. This change is produced by the precession of the equinoxes, which cause the earth's axis to swing round in space in such a manner that the north pole, for instance, describes a circle in the sky about 47 degrees in diameter, the period of time required for one complete circuit being about 26,000 years.

This, combined with the effects of a gradual change in the direction of the longer diameter of the earth's orbit, or the "line of apsides," will bring about an entire reversal of the present state of affairs ten thousand years hence, and then the northern hemisphere will have its Winter at aphelion and its Summer at perihelion. The consequences are likely to be very serious, because the northern hemisphere has more land and less water than the southern, and thus there will be no compensation for the long cold Winters and the shortened, though hotter, Summers. The climate of Boston may then be as severe as that of Labrador. One cannot expect the value of real estate to hold good for ten thousand years to come, and speculators in "futures" should establish relations with the precession of the equinoxes and the apsides of the earth's orbit.

Appearances

By William F. Kirk

"KEEPING up appearances," they call it,
They who dwell within the city gates;
When the truth would rise, how they forestall it;
When the truth is uttered, how it grates!
Feathers bought with money earned by slaving,
Silks and satins far beyond the purse—
See the throng, its showy banners waving,
Scheming from the cradle to the hearse!
Satan is a merciless old devil,
But his worst traducers cannot say
Satan wasn't always on the level—
Anything he promises, he'll pay.
From his throne he watches, never lenient,
All these mortals in their gay veneer,
Saying, "They will find it inconvenient
Keeping up appearances down here!"
